FOUNTAINS FREEZE IN ROME

LONDON (AP)—A new winter cold snap reached freezing fingers across Europe today. Snow fell on the usually sunny city of Bari on the heel of the Italian boot. In Rome the famous fountains froze—a rare event. Snow fell over most of Britain, hampering railroad and highway traffic and causing many minor accidents.

TERRORISTS STRIKE AGAIN IN KOOTENAYS

TRAIL (CP)—Bomb terrorists struck twice in the West Kootenays early today. empty box car at a pulp mill near Castlegar, 30 miles north of here, was blown up, along with a section of railway track in the same area. Police said they believe the bombings are in protest against the sittings of a special assize court in Nelson. So far 10 of the Freedomites have been sentenced to terms up to 12 years in prison.

Rumors Buzz In Paris

PARIS (AP)—France's capital buzzed today with reports that President de Gaulle's government and the Algerian rebels are near agreement—or have reached one—on a ceasefire and independence in the war-torn North African territory. The Geneva correspondent of the Belgian radio, quoting an authoritative North African source, said complete agreement had been reached at a secret meeting in Vevey, Switzerland.

Paris newspapers carried prominent stories Tuesday night that an agreement was near, and various sources in Paris had the impression crucial developments on Algeria would come this week. There was no official confirmation of the various peace agreement reports, and none was expected from French officials before Monday night. If agreement has been reached, President de Gaulle presumably will announce it in a radio-TV speech scheduled then.

A spokesman at de Gaulle's Elysee Palace discounted the Belgian radio report, saying that with de Gaulle's speech approaching, such reports could be expected with increasing frequency. He advised a reporter not to pay too much attention to them. Several developments gave substance to the reports of an impending climax in the Algerian drama, however. The French Army rolled strong detachments of troops and armored cars into the centre of Algiers Tuesday night "for any eventuality," army sources said. The troop reinforcements were withdrawn this morning, but the show of strength obviously was aimed at the extremist Secret Army Organization waging a campaign of terrorism to keep Algeria French.

Announcement of an accord with the rebel National Liberation Front is certain to infuriate Algeria's European population, and a general uprising is a possibility. To guard against any attempt at a putsch in Paris itself, the government placed 30 squadrons of mobile gendarmes, totalling more than 4,000 men, in a police "strategic reserve" in the Paris region.

Bomb Boss Captured

PARIS (Reuters)—Police today announced the arrest here of a man they described as the leader of Secret Army Organization units responsible for plastic bomb attacks in France. Police identified the man as Philippe Castille and said he was implicated in a bazaar attempt to kill Gen. Raoul Salan, now head of the secret army, when Salan was French commander in Algeria in 1956. They said documents seized indicated Castille was the organizer of a series of 17 plastic explosions in Paris on the night of Jan. 17. Forty-four pounds of plastic explosive and documents on future plastic attacks planned by the secret army were found in his hotel room, police alleged.

HOUSE ADJOURNED

MLA 'Tiny' Hobbs Dies in His Sleep

The B.C. legislature today mourned the sudden death of one of its most colorful members, George "Tiny" Hobbs, New Democratic Party-CCF MLA for Revelstoke.

Mr. Hobbs, 54, died in his sleep overnight, apparently from a heart attack.

The six-foot four-inch locomotive engineer was found in his bed at the Embassy Court Motel at 8.55 this morning by a friend from Revelstoke, Wallace Johnston, and Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Mr. Perrault called police.

The Liberal leader said he saw Mr. Hobbs late Tuesday night, working on the speech he was to deliver in the legislature today.

It would have been his first session. But his last words in the House came Tuesday afternoon when Social Crediter Cyril Sheford of Omineca gave a strong plea for peace and understanding in today's muddled world.

Mr. Hobbs slapped his desk and in his well-known booming voice called across: "I heartily agree with everything you've said. There should be more speeches like this."

Another MLA called back: "You'll have your turn to speak tomorrow."

MOTION OF REGRET But today when the legislature met at 2 p.m. it was almost immediately adjourned until 2 p.m. Thursday after a motion of regret from Premier Bennett.

Mr. Hobbs was scheduled to speak this afternoon; two other speakers were to go on the floor tonight. But all business was called off.

QUEEN'S CELLAR MISSING 'A DOZEN OF THE BEST'

LONDON (UPI)—Scotland Yard was reported today investigating the theft of a dozen bottles of liquor from Queen Elizabeth's wine cellar at Windsor Castle.

The Daily Express said the theft was discovered by servants on Monday in a routine check of the great wine storeroom, located in what used to be dungeons below the castle.

The Express said the dusty racks of wine and champagne were not touched but a liquor cabinet had been broken into.

It quoted a member of the castle staff as saying the raid was "a major outrage, not so much because of what has been taken but because anyone should do any such thing in the Queen's own home."

Press Blasts U.S. Over Cuba Policy

TORONTO (UPI)—The United States came under fire from all three Toronto daily newspapers today for its role in ousting Cuba from the Organization of American States. (See story, Page 2.)

The Globe and Mail, Star and Telegram said in their editorials that the ouster, which the Telegram called an "empty victory" will do more harm than good to hemispheric solidarity.

The editorials said most of the support for the U.S. came from the "banana republics," some of whom, the editorials said, are governed by regimes more repressive than Cuba's. They also said that the opposition to the U.S. came from major democracies such as Brazil and Argentina.

The Globe said that the Caribbean countries "of course are the most susceptible to pressure from Washington and there is no doubt this pressure was used."

It said the "stick and carrot" device used by the U.S. to attain its objective discredited the alliance for progress plan before it even began.

The Globe added that the "fiasco at Punta del Este" was another good reason for this country to stay out of the OAS. "The OAS has come dangerously close to being used as an instrument to outlaw and crush an independent state," it said.

Canada Continues Trade With Cuba

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today Canada's policy of continued trade and diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's regime was unchanged by a decision of the hemispheric foreign ministers to exclude Cuba from inter-American activities.

Diefenbaker told the Commons that representatives of all three parties in parliament were agreed that there was no need for change in policy with Cuba as the goods Canada sold to it were non-strategic.

Under the plan—which the powerful U.S. farm lobby is preparing to attack—more farmers would be encouraged to get out of farming and retrain for other work. Under government financial and other inducements, more of their land would be diverted to soil conservation, parks, wildlife sanctuaries, rural housing and fish ponds.

Talk Was Illuminating But What Did He Say?

HAMILTON (CP)—Physicist Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer apparently left 1,800 people in the dark Tuesday night while shedding light on the theory of time and space.

The man who helped develop the atomic bomb confounded an audience of McMaster University officials, student physicists, school teachers, and amateur scientists with his 1½-hour lecture.

A spokesman for McMaster University said later he could not explain why the scientist had chosen to give a technical talk at a lecture to which the general public had been invited.

"He's a brilliant man; he helped develop the atomic bomb, but who understood it?" the spokesman said. "I wonder if anyone will come tomorrow night."

Dr. Oppenheimer said there were many contradictions in the scientific world and to prove them drew equations on the blackboard which he claimed were simple to understand.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

U.S.-Russia Tension Eases

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tensions between the United States and Russia seem to be easing off a bit. Even the Berlin crisis may be in for a prolonged lull.

This is the main significance seen here in several fresh developments highlighted by the announcement Tuesday that President Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, will visit Russia in late April or May.

Salinger said the trip will be made in response to an invitation extended by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, at a luncheon with President Kennedy Tuesday.

The Salinger trip could prove in the long run to be a trail blaze for a visit by Kennedy himself. But informed officials say that is not in the plans now.

There still is too much tension between Moscow and Washington. Adzhubel spent three hours talking with Kennedy and it was generally assumed that the Russian followed the same line which he had taken with reporters who met him at the Soviet Embassy Monday night. His argument there was that though there are many points of East-West dispute, each side should take whatever small steps are possible to improve relations. He said this is not the time for big steps.

U.S. officials were reluctant to give significance to his remarks. But they thought that Khrushchev at least intends to have a cooling off period in East-West conflict.

U.S. Slackens Off Europe Army Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Army announced today a cutback of overseas duty for thousands of men whose tours abroad were extended by as much as six months because of the Berlin crisis.

It is the first major cancellation of emergency steps taken last fall to build up U.S. armed strength swiftly.

Army officials said they were unable immediately to estimate how many men are affected.

TOUGH PROGRAM CUTS SUBSIDIES

JFK Faces Farm Fight

WASHINGTON (CP)—It was the toughest program ever proposed by a president since the depression years in the 1930s and undoubtedly will be hotly debated in Congress. It would leave farmers virtually no alternative. Either they would accept stiffer federal controls to trim acreage or get no price support at all. Kennedy noted that no price supports would mean a sharp drop in market prices.

Besides reducing surpluses, the plan is designed to save taxpayers about $1,250,000,000 a year in lower federal price-support outlays, which now total about $3,000,000,000 annually.

Under the plan—which the powerful U.S. farm lobby is preparing to attack—more farmers would be encouraged to get out of farming and retrain for other work. Under government financial and other inducements, more of their land would be diverted to soil conservation, parks, wildlife sanctuaries, rural housing and fish ponds.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

Partners in Guild, David & Co. Wharf Street, today looked over minor damage in what easily could have been a fire destroying their premises. Last night an overheated stovepipe set fire to the shingled roof, but neighbors with buckets of water quickly extinguished the blaze. (Damage, $10).

Police arrested two Indians suspected of yesterday's liquor robbery. At time of arrest, they were sleeping in a circle of empty champagne bottles.

There was relief that reports of the loss of the schooner Meg Merriles (Jan. 25) in the Race Rocks area proved false. As a matter of fact, she has yet to leave Port Alberni.

The RN gunboat Forward was launched into the water after survey and refit, but unfortunately her stern stuck in the mud, and she must await next high tide with what grace she can.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Emerson Scott, of Carleton Place, Ontario, was in town Monday and Tuesday to give an Audubon screen tour lecture.

And, with the Battle of Clallam Bay in mind, he opened his remarks by saying: "I want you chaps to know I'm on YOUR side."

Preparation of complete local improvement to a block-long cul de sac off Beach Drive to the sea has drawn more than usual notice.

The $8,500 Oak Bay winter project is on Satellite Street, and a few people have gone into orbit because one of the occupants of the last apartment building on the street is Premier Bennett.

Municipal engineer Geoffrey White says the work—to put in a new water main, sidewalks, curbs, surface drains and pavement—is simply part of the policy of rebuilding streets in poor condition.

There are six properties fronting on the street, two of them large apartment dwellings, and Mr. Bennett is not a property owner. So let's have no more rockets about that.

After spending nine months, and a lot of water and fertilizer in raising a two-pound carrot, David Lett of 1340 Hillside Avenue finds he hasn't the appetite nor the heart to eat it.

Instead, he will preserve the fruit of his labor in wax. The carrot measures 8½ inches long and 11 inches around its middle.

The former Kate Brown who we were looking for last week in this column turned out to be Mrs. Dick Bowles, 1449 Westall.

Two replies came in to our query: "Does anybody know the former Kate Brown's married name, as a lady in Scotland is trying to locate her?"

The first came from Kate herself; and the second from Mrs. Ida Ruth, Shawanigan Lake, who knew Kate 25 years ago in Alberta and had heard she was working in a Victoria hospital.

It was a very tired skier who dragged himself into a cafe on the Island Highway near Duncan and ordered a chicken sandwich.

The waitress said she was sorry but that she only had egg sandwiches.

"It's all right," came the reply, "I'll wait."

An item in this column Monday which commented on The Rev. Angus Cameron of Lundavra's address to "The Immortal Memory" Friday at Burns night has aroused the ire of the St. Andrew's and Caledonia Society.

"It was a very enlightening talk," said president Mrs. Gerald Inglis, "and brought out points that a lot of members had never thought of before."

We also enjoyed the address, Mrs. Inglis, and very enlightening it was, but:

"If there's a hole in your coats, I rede you tent it; 'A chieftain's among you takin' notes, And faith he'll print it."

Flying Officer R. F. Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Robertson, 2788 Peatt Road, Langford, has been appointed public relations officer for RCAP station, Winnipeg.

Born in Winnipeg, he lived in Victoria for several years and joined the RCAP here in 1956. He graduated from Air Navigation School in 1958 and completed operational training with Air Transport Command.

Delta sheep farmer Jim Rhodes (NDP-CCF) made the government side of the legislature look woolly in his opening remarks to the House Tuesday.

He said he had been asked how his animals were doing and replied, "Wool production is very poor." Then, looking across the floor:

"I understand the Wenner-Gren interests used it all to pull over your eyes."

HOBBS

George Hobbs has left us off for the day, just as it was on March 7, 1960, the last time an MLA died during a session. In respect for P. A. Gibbs, the Liberal member for Oak Bay.

Mr. Hobbs appeared in good health during the first week of the session, but he was tired Tuesday after a trip home to attend a funeral ceremony Monday for his father-in-law.

His wife, Margaret, was on her way to her former home at The Pas, Man., with the body of her father for the full funeral Friday. She flew back to Vancouver today, where Mr. Hobbs' body was taken by Thomson and Irving Funeral Directors.

FUNERAL SATURDAY
The funeral is expected Saturday in Revelstoke.

Mr. Hobbs, first elected Sept. 12, 1960, with a whopping majority, was the opposition's most vocal power critic.

With a voice to match his size, his trademark in the House was his habit of flicking at his microphone with his forefinger.

He fought constantly against the government's power policies, and against the Columbia River treaty, which he termed "a shocking blunder and a bonanza for the U.S."

"I will fight it as long as there is breath in me," he told the legislature in the 1961 session.

MLAs remember him for kindness and generosity as big as the man.

Fernie Liberal Harry McKay told this story today:

"George phoned me last Saturday and asked if I still had my wife and youngsters in town. He told us to get dressed and he would take us anywhere we liked in his car—even to Vancouver on the ferry."

"He took us up the Island and we went shopping in Duncan. He spent all day with us. That gives an idea of the kindness of the man."

OAS DIVIDED

U.S. Wins Edge To Oust Cuba

(Times-News Services)

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay.—Foreign ministers of the Organization of American States today formally adopted a final report on their resolutions against Cuba, including a vote for ouster of Fidel Castro's pro-Communist regime.

Cubans were absent from the plenary meeting and the report was approved 20 to 0. Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos and his aides were holding a press conference elsewhere as representatives of the rest of the nations in the OAS convened.

Though State Secretary Rusk's bid for unanimity on the ouster issue failed earlier today, the United States mustered the necessary two-thirds majority for the vote directing the Castro regime's speedy expulsion from the councils of the OAS.

The ministers adopted a four-point compromise resolution at a four-hour committee meeting Tuesday night after five days of deadlocked secret sessions.

The resolution condemned Marxism-Leninism and Cuba's adherence to it, said this excludes Cuba from the inter-American system and decreed that all OAS organs should quickly adopt "the necessary measures."

But the resolution was approved in committee by only 14 of the 21 ministers—the necessary two-thirds majority and no more.

Voting in favor were the resolution's 14 sponsors—the United States, Venezuela, Panama, Haiti, Uruguay, Dominican Republic, Colombia, Nicaragua, Honduras, Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Peru and Paraguay.

Six countries abstained—Brazil, Argentina, Mexico, Chile, Bolivia and Ecuador. Only Cuba voted against.

ADOPT COMPROMISE
The resolution was adopted as part of a compromise between U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk and Colombian Foreign Minister Joaquin Calcedo Castilla on one side and Uruguayan Foreign Minister Homero Martinez on the other.

Uruguay had been among the eight countries opposed to taking action against Cuba now but the Uruguayan minister told reporters the four-point formula would be acceptable. Haiti also fell into line.

The committee also adopted seven other resolutions. The motions excluded Cuba from the inter-American defence board, banned arms shipments to Cuba and requested the OAS to establish urgently a special committee on security to assure better protection against aggression.

He came to our group in 1960 after a long record of community and union service. He was greatly loved in his community.

"George was greatly respected by all of us. His seat in this house will be difficult to fill so adequately."

"Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs and their daughter Georgina were a strong family unit. Now the family has been struck by tragedy twice in one week. Our hearts go out to them."

Mr. Perrault added: "We feel a very special loss with the passing of George Hobbs."

"We had disagreements on policy but we respected him as one of the finest members of the House."

"He was a very kind person; he was a very fine person."

BORN IN IRELAND
Mr. Hobbs was born at Waterford, Ireland, March 23, 1907.

He was a school trustee for 12 years in Revelstoke before making his first bid in provincial politics, an unsuccessful campaign in 1956. He got his revenge by taking the seat away from the Social Credit party in 1960.

He was a strong union man, being both a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Dead Men Don't Like Apologies

The legislature's "cowboy"—Cyril Shelford—Tuesday related the story of what was almost a duel to his death, punctuated with some harsh words for trigger-happy hunters.

The Social Credit MLA for Omineca, as usual, had the House in stitches with his tales of the saddle.

He said he was riding his horse (he's a farmer in the wild Burns Lake country) this year, when somebody fired a shot at him.

"I know if I'd had a rifle I certainly would have shot back," he drawled.

"I got behind a nice big tree and hollered nice and loud."

Despite evasive action, he said his unknown assailant fired another two shots.

"It was a B.C. Electric shareholder," chipped in Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dewdney).

But Mr. Shelford was serious. He had a friend, he said, another horseman, who was shot at five times. Luckily this attacker came out of the bush.

"He come and apologized," said Mr. Shelford. "But an apology if a fellow was dead wouldn't be doing much good."

Bagged His Third Horse This Year

He added: "I know the case of a fellow who bagged his third horse this year; he got a white one this time.

"There is far too much of this shooting without knowing what they're shooting at, and far too much leniency when they're caught. I would like to know whose business it is to lay charges.

"If we shot at someone in a bank and said, 'Sorry, I thought he was a bank robber,' we'd all find out quick enough who'd lay a charge."

Mr. Shelford called for an automatic charge of manslaughter, in a case of a hunting death; life suspension of hunting licence in a wounding (plus other criminal charges); 10 years' suspension for shooting livestock or a near miss on a human.

Mr. Shelford said he didn't agree that some kind of testing would avert hunting accidents.

"Ninety-nine and a half per cent of all offenders would pass any test," he said. "Some of them were expert marksmen."

As well as the criminal charges, Mr. Shelford called for more careful policing in the bush.

He said there should be more game wardens and more check points.

CLOWN HERO

Two Killed As Tragedy Hits Circus

DETROIT (AP) — Two members of the famed Wallendas family troupe, known the world over, fell to their deaths Tuesday night from the high wire when a pyramid act came apart without a net.

Two others, including Jana Schepp, 17, were injured, one critically.

Others of the troupe, clinging to the wire about 40 feet in the air, caught Jana and saved her.

The Wallendas met with their tragedy in a performance for the Shrine Circus at the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum before 7,000 adults and children.

Jana's brother, Dieter, 23, who had known freedom with her for only a few months after they escaped together from East Germany, was killed.

The other to die was Richard Faughnan, 29, performing for the first time in public.

Schepp and Faughnan suffered fatal injuries in hurtling to the sawdust-covered concrete floor of the Coliseum. Both died in hospital.

Mario Wallenda, 22, who fell with Schepp and Faughnan, was described as in "very critical" condition today by a hospital spokesman. Mario suffered head and internal injuries.

Crowd Threatened to Panic

For a time panic threatened from the shocked crowd. Some men tried to run into the ring. Women wept. Others, including children, were frozen in their seats.

A circus clown, Ernie (Blinko) Burch, was credited with bringing calm. Burch, grotesque in his makeup, stood in the ring centre pleading for order and the people heeded him.

Seven of the Wallendas were at a climax of their act. Atop the group, in a chair, was Jana, a full 50 feet above the floor.

There was an apparent slip by one member. The pyramid began collapsing.

Still clinging to the wire were Herman Wallenda, 50, Karl Wallenda, 57, and Gunther Wallenda, 42, descendants in a family which has kept the troupe's name before the public for nearly 90 years.

The three Wallendas caught Miss Schepp as she fell and dropped her into an improvised net.

Faughnan's wife, Jenny, 33, troupe member, saw it all. She was standing on a platform at one end of the high wire.

She said her husband did not appear to have a good grip on his 35-pound balancing bar and lost his balance as he tried to change the grip.

Mrs. Faughnan collapsed after learning that her husband died. She was placed under sedatives.

Why No Action by Gov't On Gas Prices?—Socred

A new plea for a legislative committee study of gasoline prices was issued Tuesday by Cyril Shelford, the Social Credit party's own front-bench critic from Omineca.

He chided Attorney-General Robert Bonner for not mentioning the issue in his speech earlier in the session.

Mr. Shelford asked for an inquiry into prices and the possibility of equalizing them across the province at last year's session.

"I was sorry the attorney-general did not say anything about gas equalization, as it is one of the more urgent issues we should discuss early in the session," said Mr. Shelford.

Mr. Shelford said he had been informed that the trade and mines departments were carrying out a study of the question last year.

He said he had been "pretty shocked" at some of the things he learned about gas prices, freight costs and exports.

They included the discovery that gas sold at Taylor Flats and made at Taylor Flats was more expensive than the same gas shipped to southern B.C.

Gas was also sold in the U.S. to farmers at 17.94 cents a gallon, while it fetched 28.3 cents in B.C. Mr. Shelford wondered how much of the U.S. gas came from B.C. anyway.

"For these reasons and others I asked the attorney-general on June 21 to take the idea to cabinet that it go before a committee of this House where all questions can be answered out in the open."

"I had no reply to this suggestion, so I want to make it again today."

HEARD NOTHING

"From here on I have not heard any results or reports as to who carried out the study and who could appear before this investigating committee, if any."

Vigorous Surgery For Police Budget

A $38,192 increase over last year was shown Tuesday in the city police department's preliminary budget.

Police commission is expected to swing an axe vigorously at the figure, equivalent to more than a one-third mill increase, before adopting a final budget.

Most of the proposed increase went for an ambulance and extra police cars. It also included $7,800 for salary increases resulting from promotions and service pay.

A $3,000 item for a police chiefs' convention to be held here was referred back to Chief John Blackstock for study to see if it could be substantially cut.

Mayor R. B. Wilson asked why the city issued 99 parking exemption stickers to 99 civilians and 26 to policemen last year.

"Well, the aldermen and Reeves from outside..." responded Chief Blackstock.

Monthly report for December showed police recovered more than double the value of property reported lost. Some $3,487 was reported lost, and $2,216 was recovered. Explanation lies in a carry-over from previous reports.

Sweeping Liberal Win Forecast by Pearson

(Times Ottawa Bureau) OTTAWA — Liberal leader Lester Pearson told a cheering audience of top echelon Liberals here Tuesday that there was one issue on which the coming election should be fought: the record of the government.

"A record which stands out in our history for its weakness and mismanagement."

With a record such as the Tories have established in the past four and one-half years, he said it was not surprising that they were becoming "jittery in action" and "shrill in talk."

Mr. Pearson concentrated his fire on the Progressive Conservatives. Not once did he mention the New Democratic party or T. C. Douglas.

The Liberal party's policy planners, campaign workers, candidates and chief election workers (450 were registered) have been meeting for two days making final adjustments to their 1962 platform, exchanging views and tips on how best to get out the voters and how to win the next election.

Mr. Pearson told the dinner meeting that Canada can undertake a full role in collective defence and security in the face of the Communist threat without becoming a nuclear power.

He condemned the Conservative government for "the muddle of its defence policy" and for "its complete abdication of responsibility" on the nuclear aspects for defence.

The government, he said, was spending millions on weapons which were not effective without nuclear warheads and then refusing to decide whether to have nuclear warheads or not.

Adjacent unorganized areas may still participate in the unit.

Meeting time is 2 p.m.

Civil Defence Budget-Policy Meeting Set

Victoria Civil Defence control board will set a budget and form 1962 policy at a meeting Feb. 5 in head-quarters at 1840 Blanshard.

It will be the new board's first meeting under the re-organized Civil Defence area including all Vancouver Island communities south from Chemainus.

But there will be fewer local representatives than formerly. Only Victoria city and Esquimalt will have delegates instead of there being representatives from the four Greater Victoria municipalities.

"The whole business is a gross betrayal of trust," he said.

Bomarc in Bankruptcy

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANADA'S Bomarc missiles is out. The federal government admits that these weapons, as they stand, are quite useless. Not only do they lack nuclear warheads but they have no warheads of any kind. They are duds.

To assume that the government intends to maintain the costly Bomarc as a queer sort of ornament, though they can never be used in war, is to assume that the government has taken leave of its senses. This assumption is so absurd on its face that the government must have other plans. Obviously it intends to equip the Bomarc with warheads of one kind or another as soon as it gets past the awkward period of a general election.

Since non-nuclear warheads for the type of Bomarc missile installed in Canada are not presently available, it surely follows that the government intends to import nuclear warheads, which the United States eagerly offers—but not until the polls have closed.

It would be quite honest for the government to argue that Canada should become a nuclear power for its own protection. It is quite dishonest, if that is the government's intention, to hide this policy from the Canadian people until they have re-elected the government.

We are not dealing here with some minor point of policy in which a degree of confusion and hypocrisy may be expected at election times. We are dealing with the gravest, life-and-death issue before Canada. We are dealing with the nation's survival.

That being so, both government and opposition are bound to state definitely, and now, where they stand on the issue of nuclear arms for Canada.

No Spirit of Gandhi Here

THE QUESTION OF KASHMIR is coming to the fore again, hard on the heels of India's armed seizure of Goa. Pakistan has referred the issue to the United Nations Security Council, but it is not likely that any definite progress will be made.

Mr. Nehru, a native of the area, has sentimental attachments for Kashmir, reinforcing his political and geographical arguments. But Pakistan's claim lies in the fact that most of the inhabitants of the area are Moslems.

India has exerted control over the chief inhabited parts of the state since the end of the British reign, while Pakistan retains the mountainous north and west territories. In the absence of any other solution, this might well solidify into a permanent situation, but it would always be open to protest by either claimant, and would remain a constant source of friction and a danger to peace.

A further complication is that Russia has registered support for India's claim, and may be expected to veto in the Security Council any move adverse to India's interests.

Pakistan is agreeable to a plebiscite by the people of Kashmir—a solution favored in such cases by the United Nations; but India is cool to this method, remembering the Moslem majority.

Official partition may be the eventual solution, but neither country appears ready for this as yet. Mr. Nehru's obduracy, and his frequent incitement of Indian emotions by inflammatory speeches against Pakistan, have done nothing to prepare the way for a peaceful settlement. It may take a sharpening of the northern threat from Red China to bring the two reluctant neighbors together.

They Tried It Out

WHILE VICTORIA RAN FROM the idea of a pedestrian mall when it had a chance to vote one into existence, Ottawa installed a temporary one to see how the public would accept it. Comment in The Ottawa Citizen on the results is interesting:

"For the second year," says The Citizen, "the popularity of the Sparks Street Mall has been attested in a study made of shops, shoppers, and the Ottawa Transportation Commission. The independent survey found that downtown businessmen on Sparks Street at least held their own last summer, that the public enjoyed the Mall, and that the OTG found it useful in maintaining off-peak traffic.

"These findings compel the Board of Control and City Council to consider very seriously not only the establishment of a Mall on Sparks Street next summer, but a permanent Mall as well."

Ottawa is faced with much the same problem as Victoria, with retail outlets springing up on the fringes of the city and the business centre threatened with loss of trade and a drop in property values.

The national capital is at least tackling the problem with initiative and a willingness to try a solution that has been effective elsewhere. Why must Victoria do less?

25-Hour Work Week

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S MEMBERS of his administration and sober labor leaders are all unhappy about the five-hour day, 25-hour week—with little change in pay—recently won by New York construction workers.

The president and administration figures see this as a reverse in their campaign to encourage restraint in labor's current demands. The labor leaders consider it an embarrassment—the type of agreement which will stimulate criticism of the "less-work-more-pay" type.

When the negotiations which led to the contract were taking place, administration figures stood aloof. They considered the issue one of local concern. Labor leaders, minimizing the influence that the contract will have on other workers, take a somewhat similar position.

This, they say, will not create a precedent any more than the same union's earlier six-hour day created a precedent.

An impartial board of review has been appointed to look into the issue. But the review will proceed against a background of special circumstances calculated to show that the agreement won by the New York electrical workers' union is not universally applicable in the United States.

It comes into force in a community where high labor costs can ostensibly be passed on to the purchasers or occupants of office buildings, luxury apartments and public housing. In any case, the public must pay the bill.

A precedent may not have been created, but in the view of many people on this continent, an example has been set.

BREAK-THROUGH TO QUALITY

Many an Old Rose May Be Welcomed Back

A ROSE by any other name would smell as sweet—but it wouldn't necessarily be good advertising. An important part of merchandising lies in developing new products. But if you can't find a new product, you can often develop an old one by making it seem new. And you can even take over an old name and make that sound new too. You don't have to have a memory much longer than fifteen or twenty years, these days, to be able to spot old roses being presented as new roses, and smelling, sweet or otherwise, under new names.

Anyone who was old enough to be able to read about the end of World War Two can remember when automobiles didn't have fins. But the growth of the finny monsters was so rapid and complete that many may have trouble recalling that cars didn't always look that way—or rather this way.

But fins seem to be past the crest, so now an automobile ad here and there boasts of the "new" non-fin look, just as one up-to-the-minute model proudly displays a spare wheel lashed on the back in 1920 roadster style.

But there are many other modern improvements which were so far from being real improvements that now you can claim an advance for your product by advertising that it is free from the feature once so eagerly sought.

For instance, the time is now ripe for somebody to come out—in fact it may already have been done—with white bathroom tissue. Plain white bathroom tissue, they'll crow, the very latest thing for your home—put you one ahead of the Joneses with all their tinted rolls. And there'll be a new name to go with the new product—"toilet paper." It should sell like hotcakes, once people get used to the revolutionary idea.

Anybody born in this century can remember a handy household product that was used to clean sinks and bath tubs—a simple, white, odorless powder that did an excellent job. Then somebody improved it by garishly coloring it, and further improved it by giving it a horrible chemical smell.

Someday somebody's going to burst on the world with a simple, white, odorless powder that does an excellent job—and the world will beat a pathway to his scrubbed door.

It's bad enough getting towels in your soap flakes, and plastic toys in your breakfast cereal. But do you also have to get perfume on things that don't need perfume, bright colors in things that look better without, and a rattle-dazzle name that produces the same mental effect as a wise crack shouted at you endlessly?

Everybody knows the story of the tooth paste advertised to contain some mouth-filling, head-buzzing ingredient like anti-nitro-tri-quasi-penthol-atrim. And the competitive tooth paste which immediately advertised: "Guaranteed to contain no trace of anti-nitro-tri-quasi-penthol-atrim."

We're entering on a period now when the loudest commercial boasts will be that such-and-such a product has divested itself entirely of some feature or other—a feature which a few years ago was hailed as its greatest asset.

We're going to be introduced to a whole "new" world of modern wonders; like lawn-mowers without noisy, smelly gasoline motors attached—beautiful quiet machines which you can walk along with at your own pace; and oh, so safe.

Or automobile tires you can "remove in a jiffy by yourself and mend punctures at the expense of only a few cents—get your set today."

Or lead pencils—"no metal, plastic, paste or liquid; just plain wood enclosing graphite, the very latest 'ng and cheap, cheap, cheap."

Or—"Phonographs! No cords, no electric shocks, no power failures. Just wind it up yourself and settle back for a record run of good entertainment. Your out-moded electric machine taken in part payment if in good condition. Order yours today!"

Yes, there's a wonderful world ahead of us if we can just turn back a bit.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Why Not Build Now?

The B.C. government is still spreading all over the streets adjacent to the Parliament Buildings. Apparently the entire corner of the north side of Michigan and Menzies, including the Safeway store is to be flattened out. What for, more ugly unplanned parking spaces?

I ask again when is this government, which is always telling us of its energy and the power of getting things done, going to build some worthwhile structures?

A good block of offices or two would do away with entirely unsuitable private houses expensively turned into what must be utterly inefficient places of work.

Is Mr. Bennett and his government entirely blind to the crying need for one or two large efficient multiple storey car parks? The present methods of leaving civil servants cars littered all over the place can no longer be tolerated. Nor would it be, if the premier would give up his very expensive bathtub antics with his fleet of ferries. He should get himself a yachting cap and a few gold stripes on the sleeves of his jacket.

I challenge him to publish the profits (or losses) of the Black Ball ferries for, say, the past five years.

The construction trade in Victoria is in a depression right now. Some practical and useful building might help this province meet the intractable unemployment situation. The opposition might wake up and ask loud what the government intends to do with the Kingston Street tennis courts.

Give up feuding with the federal government in Ottawa and get some work going here in Victoria before the summer comes in.

Re Pension Increase

With the most welcome news that our pension cheques are to be increased by $10 per month, I do sincerely hope that the sponsors of various homes and lodges for the care of elderly people, will certainly not consider the increase is due to themselves.

My firm belief is we OAPs at last, feel more free to take that increase for ourselves, to help make the closing years of our lives smoother.

UP AND OVER 84.

For Election Only?

Mr. Diefenbaker's reporting of the increase in old aged pensions to the Commons is said to have been greeted with loud desk-thumping from his backbenchers. But one wonders how many of the backbenchers see the hike in the light of the state of public finance or if the subject is merely seen in terms of getting votes.

Few will deny that the proper perspective in the matter is decent security for our older citizens. This is what the nation ought to be able to guarantee. However, there is a difference between what we ought to be able to do and what we are actually doing.

The minister of finance has failed abysmally over recent years to balance his books. Yet in spite of the massive deficits the government airily assumes vast new costs in the pension bill.

The prime minister assures us that everything is just fine, just as the government planned. But this is more of the windy talk for which he is now famous. For anyone who really followed John Mack in the good old days knows how far his calculations were off the mark. History will show that both he and Mr. Fleming grossly misjudged the economy over which they were about to assume full responsibility.

Ours seems to be a new way of doing the business of states. The solution is so simple and painless that one wonders why there should be any impoverished societies left anywhere in the world when all that needs to be done is to import our methods.

One thing is fairly certain. The great nations, such as the Federal German Republic, holding leading positions in the world today didn't start out by employing the Diefenbaker formula.

TRADE UNIONIST.

Cause of Alcoholism

I am amazed that you give time and space in your newspaper for the abolition of "stamps"—given for cash sales in some local food markets.

A recent article appeared in your paper on "The Cause and Effect of Alcoholism." We know the "cause" only too well Mr. Editor. "The excessive profits of the liquor and beer sales."

Surely the heartache and broken homes—the mental breakdowns caused from such profits—are the matters for your readers to give serious thoughts to and then do something about their conclusions.

"DEEPLY CONCERNED."

LONDON:

A Different Britain

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

AMONG the chief and early business facing the reassembled British Parliament is the Immigration Bill. The prospect of it raises the same sort of controversy as the possibility of the death penalty, and the divisions of opinion are roughly the same.

The controversy affects, of course, only the professionals and the minority who "care." It leaves most people cold. But that is how democracy works today.

Parliament is certain to pass the bill and the electorate will hardly consider this in the next election. Yet this is a bill that changes the concept of Britain.

Up to now, any citizen of the Commonwealth—and that includes the colonies, protectorates and all the other systems by which Britain once exerted its imperium—were allowed into Britain as of right. They could take jobs without permission. They could never be deported. And, after a year's residence, they could vote in British elections. It was a small but real return for what Britain had received from these countries.

Special Relationship

Not all other Commonwealth countries extend similar and reciprocal rights to the British, but this liberality embodied the idea that Britain was a mother country, in a special and affectionate relationship to its ex-dependencies, and that "Civis Britannicus sum" meant something all over the world.

The new bill gives the authorities the right to exclude any Commonwealth citizen on health, security, or criminal grounds. It also gives them the right to deport immigrants for the same reason. It gives them the right to exclude any who have no certain job.

The bill covers the Southern Irish—citizens of a country that is not in the Commonwealth and "technically foreign"—but, with a charming candor, the government says it is not even going to try to enforce it against that republic.

The government insists it is introducing the bill reluctantly. But, it says, too many people are coming in. There are not houses for them. And if serious unemployment ever comes again, these newcomers will suffer first and suffer badly.

Fifty thousand Irish come each year. They can always nip home at the first touch of economic frost. In 1959, 21,000 came from the Commonwealth; in the first 10 months of 1961 113,000 came, the vast majority colored.

Last year, 6,000 West Indians went home, most of them disillusioned. Twenty-seven thousand immigrants are today unemployed in Britain. How much better to control and plan the intake!

Essential Jobs

The government says it will continue to let in nurses, draughtsmen and bricklayers. Even now London Transport maintains a recruiting office on the island of Barbados. Certain essential but somewhat unattractive jobs could hardly be filled in Britain today without these immigrants.

The government even suggests that the bill will not make much difference in practice and that it will exclude only a minority who bring no skills with them.

In fact, they say, in private, that the West Indians present no real problem. The difficult ones are the Pakistanis. Their numbers have increased far beyond the average rate. Most of them are poor peasants whose family or even village have clubbed together to buy the fare—as an investment.

Many are in the hand of money-lenders. Sometimes their health papers are forged. They cannot speak English like the West Indians, they are illiterate, without women, non-Christian, and utterly alien and have no desire to assimilate anything beyond their wages from their adopted country.

In fact, their plight in England tends to be tragic even now. In any slump, their condition would be dreadful!

Degrading Bill

The Labor Party officially regards this as a mean and degrading bill. It insists that in effect it will only affect the poorest, i.e. the colored immigrants. It says the government has given way to pressure from the most hard-faced, mean-spirited and bigoted section of their party and that the bill is an expression in law of the color bar—the first of its sort ever to lie on the table of the Mother of Parliaments.

The same checks, Labor says, could have been achieved by patient Commonwealth consultation. It is obviously absurd not to treat the Irish who have opted out, in the same way as, say, the Australians.

Indeed Labor goes so far as to suggest that in the government's preoccupation with the Common Market and the flood of genuinely foreign workers that must be let into Britain, it has lost interest in the Commonwealth and that the Labor Party alone maintains what was good in the old imperial tradition.

But the rage will rise over the twin ideas that this is a color bar bill and a diminution of the concept of Britain. It will be exciting while it lasts. Hard things will be said. The bill will pass. And the shy, shunned, uncertain, unfashionably dressed gentlemen of color will remain on the sidewalks of all the big towns of Britain.

Let's Ask the Ladies

MR. James Reston of The New York Times recently devoted a Washington column to the problem of conveying to the public a clear picture of educational needs in his country. He could have been speaking for Canada too.

"The question," he wrote, "is whether there is a way to get the whole problem of modern education discussed calmly in all communities of the country, large and small; not only the emotional religious, racial, regional political, and constitutional issues, all of which are important, but the facts as well."

He cited as facts the growth of the population, the shortage of classrooms, the replacement of unskilled labor by automatic machinery, the movement of kids from poorly educated communities into the competition of highly educated urban communities, and the educational needs of the nation in the cold war.

Those are some of the facts. Their number might be expanded almost indefinitely.

Mr. Reston suggests the facts might be presented in a more palatable way throughout his country if the educated women, not professionally engaged, were to take over the job, create study groups and devote some time to an analysis of some factual pamphlet that could be produced by one of this continent's well-heeled foundations.

He thinks women are the people for the chore because they have been sponsoring culture from pioneer days. They have been "educating their kids when they could catch them. In the little town it is the women who have organized and attended the monthly book clubs and tried to cultivate the baboons they married and bring a little gentility into the house."

Maybe, but I'm not sure. I served my hitch in the PTA as a sort of duty I think parents owe the schools that try to do a job for their children. I've attended their executive sessions when all but the school principal, one other officer and myself were ladies. The refreshments were swell.

But, almost invariably, the ladies, as numerically preponderant on the executive as in the body of the school's PTA, turned to men for leadership. When they discussed speakers, the speakers were usually men. When they wanted somebody to head up a strong committee for an approach to the community, they usually looked for a man.

And these mothers of the PTA were intelligent, often highly educated women. Why they deferred to the male, I don't know. Still, it was flattering—and if you don't mind I would like another piece of that pineapple-upside-down cake.

Of course, the deference was for public appearances. At home they did a job—an excellent job of conditioning the household for a receptive attitude to education in the schools. Perhaps, as Mr. Reston argues, they should be more intensively organized to lead educational thought in a broader field. Maybe they should form the study groups to analyze facts of education and make a bigger impression on the thinking of the country, be it the United States or Canada.

Mr. Reston says the educated women who are bored with the old man's locker-room, bar-room and commercial shop-talk are the greatest unused natural resource in the country today.

It's not an unused resource. Show me the student who does well in school, has an eager approach to learning, and I'll lay you seven to three that in the youngster's home is an educated mother, whether she holds a university degree or not. She's using her talents and the result of that use is apparent in the child.

In this community we've seen what the women can do in persuading an electorate to support school building bylaws—though usually they want a man to head up their group. It's conceivable that they could expand that ability in a broader consideration of education throughout the nation.

It's also conceivable that, with the bigger problem tossed in their laps, they'd react like a lot of males—devote attention to one facet of the issue in a schismatic treatment that wouldn't be much better than that given it by men.

Ever sit through a PTA business meeting and try to determine which lady committee chairman felt the work of some other committee deserved more attention than hers?

Got the Weed-Pulling Urge Yet?

The spring-like weather of the last day or so has kindled the urge to be among plants and have the hands in the soil, an urge that is best satisfied by pulling weeds.

Down on hands and knees, with the warm sun on the back, even mud-clogged fingers are an annoyance that is tolerated.

It is amazing the ease with which deeply-rooted weeds can be removed from wet soil, involving far less effort than will be needed a month or so hence.

And there is a mental stimulus about weeding, a sense of accomplishment and the knowledge that every one removed now is one less monster to deal with later.

Doing this work right after the heavy frosts has another compensation, for the same heaving of the soil which we dread will lift our plants and left them on the surface ready for gathering before their roots again penetrate the ground.

INTIMATE
Undoubtedly divine intentions were that gardeners should work on hands and knees, for only in this position does one become intimately acquainted with plants and soil.

Working like this dispels illusions of low temperatures having a deadly effect on insects. Sow bugs and spiders aplenty are going about their prescribed tasks, bees noisily protesting the paucity of flowers, and earwigs abound, sleepy and sluggish, but with sufficient life to assure a good population of hungry youngsters by the time the vegetable seedlings are showing.

The weeds themselves are undaunted by what has passed. Groundsel in flower and already seeding, and chickweed smothered in tiny white blossoms, assure the gardener of no let-up in weed production this spring. One weed in the compost bin is worth two in the soil.

Liberals Revise Pension Plan After Government Move

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal party announced Tuesday a major revision in its pledge of an old age pension supplement, following the Conservative government's announcement last week that it will raise the basic pension to $65 a month from $55.

The Liberals now are promising, if elected, to pay a $10 monthly supplement to the new $65 pension immediately. Legislation can be passed.

They previously promised a $20 monthly supplement to the present $55 pension but it would be payable after a one-year wait during which contributions from employees and employers would be built up in a special fund.

Paul Martin, Liberal MP for Essex East, made the announcement at a luncheon meeting of the national council of the party, saying he spoke for Liberal Leader Pearson and his colleagues. The former health minister said the Liberals could make this promise because the increase in the basic pension to $65 from $55, paid to all at age 70, would come out of general tax revenues. Therefore, it would be unnecessary to wait a year while contributions for the pensions supplement were built up in the special fund. The Liberals now are also promising an extra $10 for retired married couples.

Free Shelter Plan Asked by Shelford

The federal government should supply Canadians with free fallout shelters—or if not free, then at cost—Cyril Shelford, Social Credit member for Omineca, told the legislature Tuesday.

Mr. Shelford won the biggest applause of the session so far after speaking in the Throne Speech debate.

"A lot of families not only couldn't buy a shelter, they couldn't buy a month's supply of food to put in it," he said. "If the federal government wants us, as Canadians, to have fallout shelters, they should supply us with fallout shelters, if not free, then at cost."

"There certainly shouldn't be a profit in manufacturing such things," he added.

Some U.S. companies were making millions out of shelters, and Canadian firms were starting to rake in the profits, too.

Mr. Shelford said there shouldn't be a profit in any war goods.

Without profits, there should be a desire for peace among munition makers.

"I'm not too sure they want it," he added, doubtfully.

"I am sick of seeing people make millions of dollars on war—by that it's misery and killing."

Mr. Shelford said the B.C. government should call on Ottawa to take a lead in the United Nations and persuade all countries to put war goods profits into a fund for research into cancer and other diseases.

"At least we might be healthy when we get blown up or have to live in one of these fallout shelters."

B.C. to Help Solve Tangle In Bankruptcy

Transport Minister Earle Westwood said Tuesday the B.C. government will help to solve a northern hassle over a bankrupt pipeline contractor.

But after meeting with an oil company official here Monday, he would not comment on any specific government action.

"We hope this situation can be settled," he said.

The dispute, at Fort St. John, involves creditors of Pioneer Pipeline Contractors of Calgary, who were hired by the Sun Oil Co. to work on a $1,100,000 line from the Blueberry field area.

The contractor went broke last December and Fort St. John and Dawson Creek business seek payment of bills totalling $220,000.

H. T. Galbraith, president of the Fort St. John Chamber of Commerce said the contractor had assets of only $5,500—five $1 shares—when it was hired.

"That means Pioneer was broke before it even came in here," he added.

Mr. Westwood and Attorney General Robert Bonner met George Dunlap, general manager of Sun Oil, to discuss the situation Monday.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Strawberry Growers Seek Federal Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Huge strides in Mexican strawberry production have saddled British Columbia growers with a big surplus, the National Farmers Union complained today.

In its annual presentation to the federal cabinet, the union urged either federal assistance to Canadian growers or a year-round duty on imports.

Mexico's 1961 strawberry acreage was about seven times that of 1952 and the resulting pressure on United States crops was felt in Canada, said the brief.

Dumping of Mexican berries in the U.S. in turn resulted in California and Oregon growers entering Canada at low prices.

As a result, B.C. packers were holding 1,000,000 pounds of the 1961 crop although B.C. itself didn't grow enough for its own needs.

The 1962 price level would be seriously influenced as a result.

IMPORTS CHEAPER

Mexican berries were available in Vancouver at 15 to 16 cents a pound while B.C. packers were paying growers that price.

The union said the government could help with a deficiency payment program.

Growers would get the difference between their market price and a mixed level—if the market price was lower. The fixed level would be 15 cents a pound or 80 per cent of the 10-year average of strawberry prices.

The alternative would be a value for duty on all imports, set at 15 cents a pound for the fresh fruit. Other rates would apply to packed fruit.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jayne Mansfield says she turned down $20,000 to pose for a series of nude pictures for Playboy... "because nudity just doesn't mix well with motherhood..."

"I'm the mother of three children and hope to be the mother of seven more," Jayne told the B.W. and me at Toots Shor's, and it would rub me the wrong way if somebody embarrassed my little boy by saying 'I saw a picture of your mother without any clothes on'."

Mickey Hargitay, her husband spoke up, about the absurdity of such pictures.

"They know what's there, anyway," he snorted.

Jayne put it on a higher level. "People have a pretty good idea of what I look like," she said. "Professionally, it wouldn't do me any good. I've never taken a nude picture—well, I've taken some scanty ones—but I've never had school-age children before. Jayne Marie's 11 now—and it just doesn't mix, as I said, with motherhood."

"NOTHING SPECIAL"

"What's your ambition, Jayne?" I asked.

"To win an Academy Award and have seven more children."

RICKIE DIDN'T KNOW THE JET WOULD GO

CHICAGO (AP) — Rickie Oprondek, a 10-year-old model airplane builder and an altar boy, left home Sunday morning carrying $4 and a prayer book to attend mass.

He got home Tuesday night by way of San Francisco, covered by a round-trip jet flight.

"I didn't want to go nowhere," he said. "I wanted to see how it (the jet plane) looked. And it started. I didn't know the plane was going to take off."

He spent two days in San Francisco, most of the time wandering around the airport.

Airport employees noticed the boy was alone and called police. Police found his name written in his prayer book. Then they got in touch with his parents through American Airlines officials.

American Airlines officials put him aboard a jet and sent him back to Chicago.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a prize? Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Michael Donley, age 10, of Holland Patent, N.Y., for his question:

What is a Bandicoot?

There is a world of difference between a pig and a rat—which makes us wonder what kind of animal this bandicoot can be. For his name means the pig-rat. What's more, the bandicoots that live in India and other parts of Asia are in no way related to the bandicoots that live in Australia and its nearby islands.

The bandicoot pig-rat of Asia and the true bandicoot of Australia look somewhat alike and share certain habits. Both are ratty-type animals and both use their front feet to grub for food in the soil, much like wild pigs. Both are mammals, warm-blooded and fur-coated animals who feed their babies on mother's milk. But here the likeness ends. For the true bandicoot is a marsupial or pouched animal. To find him in his native home we must travel half-way around the world to the land of marsupials where the kangaroo, the koala bear, the wallaby and most other native animals carry their new-born babies in a fur-lined pouch on mama's tummy.

In Australia, Tasmania and New Guinea there are many kinds of bandicoot ranging in size from a chipmunk to a bunny. Their family name is Peramelidae, a fancy scientific word which means badger-with-a-pouch. The bandicoot, however, is not a badger any more than he is a pig or a rat.

The little fellow is a night prowler and spends his day dozing in a hollow tree or rocky crevice. He is a brownish animal with a fairly long, ratty tail. He has a pixy-type face with a sharp-pointed chin and long, leafy ears. The big rabbit bandicoot has ears as big as a bunny's. Every bandicoot has long, slender feet tipped with sharp claws and he uses them for digging up his dinner of worms, insects and larvae.

Leaps High When Startled

Once in a while he nibbles a root, a fallen berry or a green leaf. When startled, the bandicoot leaps high into the air, as though scared out of his skin.

However, Mr. Bandicoot is a scrappy fellow and no coward. Two males will fight a duel by chasing each other around and around. The swifter one will catch the other, jump at his back and pound with his powerful back legs. The defeated duelist is sure to lose hair and maybe scraps of skin from his back.

Mrs. Bandicoot bears two tiny, helpless babies in May or June. They go immediately into her pouch and stay there for several months. The pouch is rather unusual, even for marsupials. The opening of this cosy cradle is at the bottom, just the opposite of the pouch of the kangaroo.

The bandicoot of Asia is often rated as a great nuisance for he is fond of seeds buried in the ground. He raids the rice fields for the newly planted seeds and tender shoots. And one of these bandicoots of Asia has hoof-like claws which make it very easy for him to dig up the freshly cultivated soil.

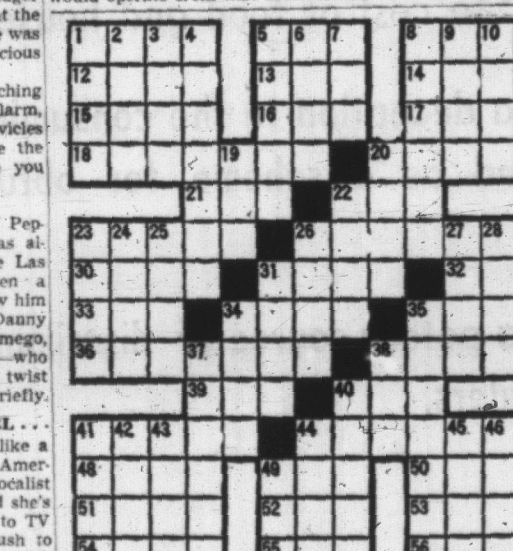

Trackless Train Latest Proposal For Sightseers

Application for street terminal space for a "trackless train" sightseeing rig was taken under study Tuesday by city public works committee.

Spoony Singh, operator of a drive-in and go-cart track on Esquimalt Road, said he proposed to start a sightseeing service this summer using a 50-foot-long train.

A tractor, rigged to look like a miniature diesel locomotive, and two coaches would make up the train, capable of 18 miles an hour.

Mr. Singh asked for allocation of curb space outside the Parliament Buildings for a terminal. A London double-decker bus sightseeing service and the familiar trolley-ho would operate from that area.

Strawberry Growers Seek Federal Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Huge strides in Mexican strawberry production have saddled British Columbia growers with a big surplus, the National Farmers Union complained today.

In its annual presentation to the federal cabinet, the union urged either federal assistance to Canadian growers or a year-round duty on imports.

Mexico's 1961 strawberry acreage was about seven times that of 1952 and the resulting pressure on United States crops was felt in Canada, said the brief.

Dumping of Mexico berries in the U.S. in turn resulted in California and Oregon fruit entering Canada at low prices. As a result, B.C. packers were holding 1,000,000 pounds of the 1961 crop although B.C. itself didn't grow enough for its own needs.

The 1962 price level would be seriously influenced as a result.

IMPORTS CHEAPER

Mexican berries were available in Vancouver at 15 to 16 cents a pound while B.C. packers were paying growers that price.

The union said the government could help with a deficiency payment program.

Growers would get the difference between their market price and a mixed level—if the market price was lower. The fixed level would be 15 cents a pound or 80 per cent of the 10-year average of strawberry prices.

The alternative would be a value for duty on all imports, set at 15 cents a pound for the fresh fruit. Other rates would apply to packed fruit.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jayne Mansfield says she turned down $20,000 to pose for a series of nude pictures for Playboy, "because nudity just doesn't mix well with motherhood."

"I'm the mother of three children and hope to be the mother of seven more," Jayne told the B.W. and me at Toots Shor's, and "and it would rub me the wrong way if somebody embarrassed my little boy by saying 'I saw a picture of your mother without any clothes on'."

Mickey Hargitay, her husband spoke up, about the absurdity of such pictures.

"They know what's there, anyway," he snorted.

Jayne put it on a higher level. "People have a pretty good idea of what I look like," she said. "Professionally, it wouldn't do me any good. I've never taken a nude picture—well, I've taken some scanty ones—but I've never had school-age children before. Jayne Marie's 11 now—and it just doesn't mix, as I said, with motherhood."

"NOTHING SPECIAL"

"What's your ambition, Jayne?" I asked.

"To win an Academy Award and have seven more children."

RICKIE DIDN'T KNOW THE JET WOULD GO

CHICAGO (AP) — Rickie Oprondek, a 10-year-old model airplane builder and an altar boy, left home Sunday morning carrying $4 and a prayer book to attend mass.

He got home Tuesday night by way of San Francisco, covered by a round-trip jet flight.

"I didn't want to go nowhere," he said. "I wanted to see how it (the jet plane) looked. And it started. I didn't know the plane was going to take off."

He spent two days in San Francisco, most of the time wandering around the airport.

Airport employees noticed the boy was alone and called police. Police found his name written in his prayer book. Then they got in touch with his parents through American Airlines officials.

American Airlines officials put him aboard a jet and sent him back to Chicago.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of the World Book Encyclopedia? Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Michael Donley, age 10, of Holland Patent, N.Y., for his question:

What is a Bandicoot?

There is a world of difference between a pig and a rat which makes us wonder what kind of animal this bandicoot can be. For his name means the pig-rat. What's more, the bandicoots that live in India and other parts of Asia are in no way related to the bandicoots that live in Australia and its nearby islands.

The bandicoot pig-rat of Asia and the true bandicoot of Australia look somewhat alike and share certain habits. Both are ratty-type animals and both use their front feet to grub for food in the soil, much like wild pigs. Both are mammals, warm-blooded and fur-coated animals who feed their babies on mother's milk. But here the likeness ends. For the true bandicoot is a marsupial or pouched animal. To find him in his native home we must travel half-way around the world to the land of marsupials where the kangaroo, the koala bear, the wallaby and most other native animals carry their new-born babies in a fur-lined pouch on mama's tummy.

In Australia, Tasmania and New Guinea there are many kinds of bandicoot ranging in size from a chipmunk to a bunny. Their family name is Peramelidae, a fancy scientific word which means badger-with-a-pouch. The bandicoot, however, is not a badger any more than he is a pig or a rat.

The little fellow is a night prowler and spends his day dozing in a hollow tree or rocky crevice. He is a brownish animal with a fairly long, ratty tail. He has a pixy-type face with a sharp-pointed chin and long, leafy ears. The big rabbit bandicoot has ears as big as a bunny's. Every bandicoot has long, slender feet tipped with sharp claws and he uses them for digging up his dinner of worms, insects and larvae.

Leaps High When Startled

Once in a while he nibbles a root, a fallen berry or a green leaf. When startled, the bandicoot leaps high into the air, as though scared out of his skin.

However, Mr. Bandicoot is a scrappy fellow and no coward. Two males will fight a duel by chasing each other around and around. The swifter one will catch the other, jump at his back and pound with his powerful back legs. The defeated duelist is sure to lose hair and maybe scraps of skin from his back.

Mrs. Bandicoot bears two tiny, helpless babies in May or June. They go immediately into her pouch and stay there for several months. The pouch is rather unusual, even for marsupials. The opening of this cosy cradle is at the bottom, just the opposite of the pouch of the kangaroo.

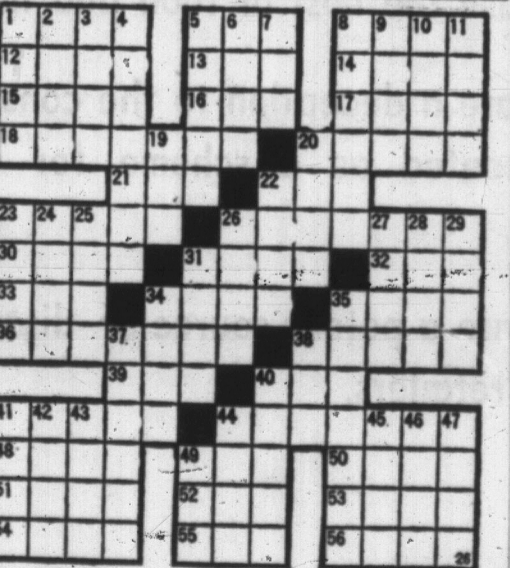

Trackless Train Latest Proposal For Sightseers

Application for street terminal space for a "trackless train" sightseeing rig was taken under study Tuesday by city public works committee.

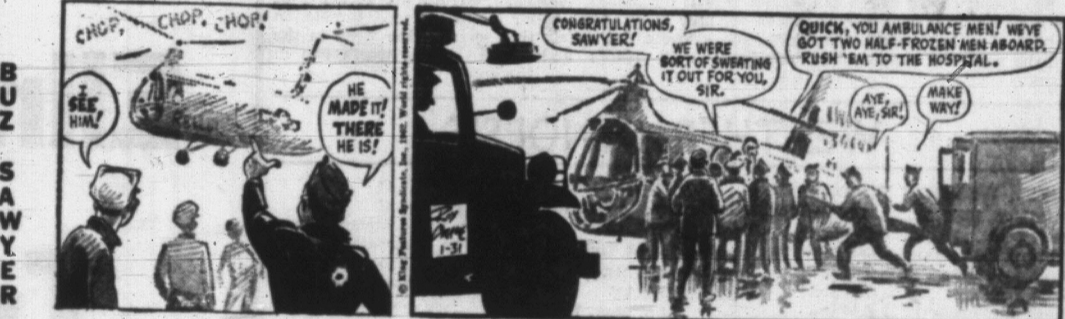

Spoony-Singh, operator of a drive-in and go-cart track on Esquimalt Road, said he proposed to start a sightseeing service this summer using a 50-foot-long train.

A tractor, rigged to look like a miniature diesel locomotive, and two coaches would make up the train, capable of 18 miles an hour.

Mr. Singh asked for allocation of curb space outside the Parliament Buildings for a terminal. A London double-decker bus sightseeing service and the familiar trolley also would operate from that area.

They've Got Bats In Their Gardens — Just Ask Kelly

TORONTO (CP)—Maple Leaf Gardens is caught up in a controversy lively enough to eclipse such usual hot-stove topics as whether a Gordie Howe today is as good as a Newsy Lalonde in his prime.

The home of the National Hockey League Leafs is divided over the best method of keeping a bat out of centre Red Kelly's red hair.

The winged varmint buzzed Red as he returned to action Saturday night after a month-long injury layoff, then flitted back to the girders in the high-domed Gardens roof.

Rival efforts to get rid of the pesky invader have pitted the old-fashioned broom-swat method against an attempt to drive the beast to distraction with radio waves pitched higher than the human ear can hear.

The modernists are led by radio-control expert Bob Wood, who is using the Gardens' public address system in an attempt to jam the bat's natural radar.

Whitey McAllister of the Gardens' maintenance staff heads traditionalists who stand by the broom method.

Whitey has unveiled a new bat-killing device, a regulation broom with the bristles drawn apart down the middle.

"When you swing an ordinary broom at a bat," Whitey explained, "the whoosh causes a vacuum that makes the bat swoop-up towards you. Split the bristles and you avoid this."

"It's simple aerodynamics."

The rift in the Gardens seemed deep. If not irreparable, one member of the staff had shown off the marvels of Bob Wood's radio setup, a Gardens' public relations man referred to Whitey McAllister as "our chief bat-catcher."

Meantime, nobody has seen the bat for three days.

REGAINS OLD TOUCH

Hawks Blow Hot With Hull Moving

CHICAGO (CP)—Coach Rudy Pilous says his Chicago Black Hawks are hungry again—just like they were last spring when they won the Stanley Cup.

And the fellow who appears to be setting the example is muscular left winger Bobby Hull.

Hull was a bewildered man when the Black Hawks faltered at the beginning of this National Hockey League season. He-aven was singled out by Pilous for lack of hustle.

But in recent weeks, the husky 23-year-old has regained his scoring touch and the Hawks have been moving.

Hull has riddled opposing netminders for 10 goals in his last eight games after being able to score only 15 times in 39 earlier outings.

The Hawks have won five, tied one and lost just two since Hull's surge began.

AHEAD OF DETROIT

They now lead fourth-place Detroit Red Wings by six points and hope to widen the bulge some more when they take on the Wings tonight at Chicago in the start of a home-and-home series. The two teams meet again in Detroit Thursday night.

Fulmer hopes to meet "the winner to decide who is world champion."

"With taxes what they are, I see no reason to have warm-up fights or exhibitions," he said.

Spokane Pair Setting Pace

SEATTLE (AP)—Spokane's Max Mekliko picked up three goals and seven assists in three games last week to lengthen his lead in the Western Hockey League scoring race to eight points.

Gerry Brissson, also of Spokane, is in second place with 59 points. He holds the lead in goals, with 31 in 47 games.

Mekliko and Seattle's Rudy Filion are tied for the lead in assists with 42 each.

COAST 'SPIEL TOTAL PASSES CENTURY MARK

The entry total for the inaugural Pacific Coast Curling Association bonspiel has passed the century mark.

A total of 104 rinks were entered up to Tuesday evening, including 30 in the special seniors' competition.

And time's a-waiting for rinks who have not entered. Tonight was the original deadline for entries, but rinks will be accepted at the Victoria Curling Club right up to the time the draw will be arranged Thursday evening.

The Feb. 5-11 rockfest will be staged at both Victoria and Esquimalt Curling Clubs.

AUSSIERS FEAR BRITISH SPIES

Sydney (CP)—The Australian boat will be draped in burlap when launched.

"Yes," says Payne, "we might wrap it up in bags. We think it's amusing to keep them guessing. We like our fun."

But it's not just fun. The Australians are deadly earnest about this challenge to the United States, scheduled to be sailed off Newport, R.I., in September.

There's not much fear among Sydney yachtsmen that

Allies Tell E. Germans It Works Both Ways

BERLIN (UPI)—Western officials in Berlin today made it official that the East German hockey team has been refused travel permits to the world championship tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo., and the East Germans immediately wired a protest to the International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF).

The latest step in the dispute which has raged for several weeks came today when the western allies announced that the allied travel officers in West Berlin Tuesday turned down East German travel applications for the hockey team.

Such permits are necessary before the East Germans could apply for U.S. visas. The East Germans claim they have been denied U.S. visas; the U.S. State Department says the question of visas never has come up because the East Germans have not obtained the travel documents first.

CRISIS OF THE WALL

Following today's announcement, the East German Ice Hockey Association announced it has sent a cable of protest to the IIHF president, Robert LeBel of Montreal, demanding that the IIHF take all necessary steps to assure East German participation in the meet.

The denial of travel documents by allied officials here stems from the crisis of the wall erected by the East Germans in Berlin.

The Allied Travel Office is run by the United States, British and French authorities here.

Refusal of the travel permits could affect the Alpine world skiing championships to be held at Chamonix, France, beginning Feb. 10.

INTERNATIONAL MEET

Marc Holder, Swiss president of the International Ski Federation, said the championships may be cancelled. The meet would be held instead as an "international competition."

Spokesmen for the Dutch and Swedish national hockey federations said there is a strong chance their teams will not compete at Colorado Springs, despite the insistence of LeBel that the competition will go on as scheduled. Col. Joachim Gruenwald of the East German Hockey Federation was quoted Monday as saying Russia and Czechoslovakia will pull out if East Germany is barred.

Eighteen countries have entered the Colorado Springs championships and this would reduce the field to 13. In London, however, John F. "Bunny" Ahearne of the European section of the hockey federation, said there is nothing in the rules saying how many teams should make up a world championship. — Only four teams started the 1953 world tournament and one of those withdrew.

The hockey situation will be discussed by LeBel and organizers of the tournament at Colorado Springs next Monday.

KO Boosts Tiger Past Paul Pender

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Tiger's knockout triumph over Cuba's Florentino Fernandez has earned the Nigerian the "fighter of the month" award from Ring magazine and a boost in the middleweight ranks.

The British Empire 160-pound champion was elevated over Paul Pender, former middleweight champion from Brooklyn, Mass., to the No. 2 contender's position.

Pender was dropped to third. Ring recognizes England's Terry Downes as world champion. Gene Fulmer, the NBA middleweight king from West Jordan, Utah, is the No. 1 contender in the monthly ratings released today.

Bob Cleroux of Montreal moved to No. 5 in the heavyweight ranks, from sixth place. The National Boxing Association ranks Cleroux seventh.

Eder Jofre, the hard-hitting Brazilian, settled the dispute over the bantamweight title by knocking out Johnny Caldwell of Ireland. Caldwell was dropped a notch and now ranks as the No. 2 contender behind Mexico's Joe Medel.

Ring also recognizes the following as champions: Floyd Patterson, New York, heavyweight; Archie Moore, San Diego, light heavyweight; Benny Paret, Cuba, welterweight; Joe Brown, Houston, Tex., lightweight; Davey Moore, Springfield, Ohio, featherweight; and Panek King, Thailand, flyweight.

Sportsmen Laud 'Quick Response'

Amateur Bodies Unanimously Back City Plan

Amateur sports organizations today lauded heartily a city parks committee proposal to lift rental fees for Victoria's two major playing fields, but the loudest huzzahs of all came from the sports group which instigated the move.

"If this plan is approved," said Tillman Briggs, publicity director for Victoria Rugby Union, "it will assure the existence and development of minor rugby here."

Spokesman for other groups echoed his sentiments.

The plan, outlined by alderman Michael Griffin and enthusiastically supported by Ald. Alf Toone and city manager C. C. Wyatt, calls for rent-free use of Royal Athletic and other city-owned sports grounds by amateur and semi-professional sports organizations.

First in Canada

If city council approval follows, Victoria will be the only Canadian city where rental is not charged for such purposes.

Relief from the minimal $10 fee was sought two weeks ago by Victoria Rugby Union.

"We didn't object to the amount as such," said Briggs. "It is certainly reasonable and far less than paid in Vancouver for interior parks."

"We sought relief simply because our newly-organized mid-level, junior and intermediate leagues are without sponsors and every park rental fee had to come out of the parent union."

"Without assistance from the city we would have faced the possibility of having to charge the youngsters to play. This could have had the effect of discouraging them and endangering the entire minor leagues program."

Responded Quickly

"We're delighted that the parks committee has responded so quickly to our request," said Briggs.

Jack Patrick, coach, Victoria Drakes intermediate football team: "A thing like this happens and the players and officials start to think that maybe the people care what happens. Encouragement like this can be a tremendous boost."

Les Entwistle, president, Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association: "If this thing goes through, we will put aside any money we can save with a view to building better parks facilities for baseball. It's the chance we need."

Added praise for the move came from Ed Viggers, president, Victoria and District Football League, and Wallace Milligan, manager of Wallace United of the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

Help All Amateurs

Almost unnoticed in the motion was a clause calling for council "to do everything possible to foster amateur sports."

This could be heartening to hockey and basketball groups. If council is prepared to permit rent-free use of parks, so might it be willing to grant relief for the use of the city-owned Memorial Arena or school gymnasiums. This could be accomplished by a subsidy to cover rental charges.

Presently the city's largest amateur sports group, the 600-member Independent Athletic Association, charges its members token fees to cover rentals for the arena and school gyms. The IAA has consistently used Macdonald Park and other city parks on a rent-free basis.

The city spent $22,000 last year for maintenance of the two large parks. It received $3,000 in fees which covered caretakers' wages.

National League Goes For More Night Games

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National League, operating with more than eight baseball teams for the first time since 1899, has announced a 162-game schedule for next season. Opening date is April 9.

Houston Colts and New York Mets are new additions to the league. With the membership increased to 10 teams, and the schedule boosted from 154 games, there will be more night baseball.

The schedule calls for 421 night engagements compared with the high of 318 last year.

Booster Club Planned

Outside right Henry Vanderhorst was the key man in the strategy.

"Run," said Milligan, "and rove."

Vanderhorst did just that. The diminutive forward was everywhere. He scored one of Victoria's five goals but with any amount of luck, he might have added three or four to his total.

He scored at the six-minute mark, his first good opportunity, but referee George Steele ruled "hand ball." Five minutes later, Vanderhorst waltzed in on Columbus goalie Paul Lisowsky again, only to fall victim of a great save.

THREE GAMES AT VANCOUVER FOR N.Z. TEAM

New Zealand's touring rugby team, which meets Victoria Crimson Tide at Macdonald Park, on March 17, will also play three games in Vancouver.

Stated to play six matches in California before arriving in British Columbia, the New Zealanders will play University of British Columbia on March 22, Vancouver Reps on March 24 and British Columbia Reps on March 27.

Roaming Henry May Be Trouble For Royals, Too

Victoria United manager Wally Milligan thumbed last from an oldtimer hockey break in Saturday and came up with a "rover."

It's not actually a new soccer trick, but it's seldom used. Milligan's decision to bring a rover into play last weekend was the key tactical move that led to United's crushing 5-0 conquest of Columbus.

The resounding defeat suffered by the first-half champions is still the talk around Pacific Coast Soccer League circles.

"We had a plan," Milligan said after the game, "and it worked."

HENRY KEY MAN

Outside right Henry Vanderhorst was the key man in the strategy.

"Run," said Milligan, "and rove."

Vanderhorst did just that. The diminutive forward was everywhere. He scored one of Victoria's five goals but with any amount of luck, he might have added three or four to his total.

He scored at the six-minute mark, his first good opportunity, but referee George Steele ruled "hand ball." Five minutes later, Vanderhorst waltzed in on Columbus goalie Paul Lisowsky again, only to fall victim of a great save.

SHOT HIM POST

At the 17-minute mark, Vanderhorst just missed the goal on a well-taken header from centre-forward Geoff Hill. Eight minutes later, the speedy little outside was in the clear again. His sharply-angled shot hit the post.

Hill put Victoria on the scoresheet just before the half and it was wandering Henry who started the second-half fireworks with the team's second goal.

Milligan's rover worked so well last weekend, it seems probable that he'll be put to the test again this Saturday when United entertains New Westminster Royals. Kick-off at Royal Athletic Park is 2 p.m.

BOOSTER MEETING

United has arranged a meeting for its fans Friday night for the purpose of forming a booster club.

Milligan hopes for a large turnout when the session convenes at 8 p.m. in the Naval Vets Hall, Broad Street.

"We want the fans to form their own executive at the meeting," he said enthusiastically. "We will try to learn what they consider a fair price for membership and make plans for distributing membership buttons and cards."

The club manager said that such a group would make the fans "really a part of our team."

Help All Amateurs

Almost unnoticed in the motion was a clause calling for council "to do everything possible to foster amateur sports."

This could be heartening to hockey and basketball groups. If council is prepared to permit rent-free use of parks, so might it be willing to grant relief for the use of the city-owned Memorial Arena or school gymnasiums. This could be accomplished by a subsidy to cover rental charges.

Presently the city's largest amateur sports group, the 600-member Independent Athletic Association, charges its members token fees to cover rentals for the arena and school gyms. The IAA has consistently used Macdonald Park and other city parks on a rent-free basis.

The city spent $22,000 last year for maintenance of the two large parks. It received $3,000 in fees which covered caretakers' wages.

Hanson Takes Kootenay Title

TRAIL (CP)—The Ida Hanson rink from Kimberley will represent the Kootenays in the provincial women's curling playoff in Penticton Feb. 12.

Mrs. Hanson's rink won the right to the finals by defeating Mrs. Mary DeGirolamo of Nelson.

Mrs. Hanson's rink is composed of third, Ada Caeles, second, Isabel Leith, and lead, Kathy Shaw.

Newest Pirate Former Mountie

PITTSBURGH (CP)—Howie Goss, 27-year-old outfielder with Vancouver Mounties in the Pacific Coast Baseball League last season, has turned in his signed contract to Pittsburgh Pirates.

Goss, who missed the last two weeks of the season after developing pneumonia, finished with an average of .299, including 27 home runs and 100 RBI.

FIGHT RESULTS

PHILADELPHIA—Joe Gardello, 164, Philadelphia, outpointed Henry Hank, 163, Detroit, 10.

FRESNO, Calif.—Ben Medina, 160, Fresno, stopped Ray Rojas, 160, Santa Ana, Calif., 10.

LIVERPOOL, Eng.—Dave Charnley, 174, England, outpointed Jose Stabile, 173, Cuba, 10.

National League Goes For More Night Games

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National League, operating with more than eight baseball teams for the first time since 1899, has announced a 162-game schedule for next season. Opening date is April 9.

Houston Colts and New York Mets are new additions to the league. With the membership increased to 10 teams, and the schedule boosted from 154 games, there will be more night baseball.

The schedule calls for 421 night engagements compared with the high of 318 last year.

Booster Club Planned

Outside right Henry Vanderhorst was the key man in the strategy.

"Run," said Milligan, "and rove."

Vanderhorst did just that. The diminutive forward was everywhere. He scored one of Victoria's five goals but with any amount of luck, he might have added three or four to his total.

He scored at the six-minute mark, his first good opportunity, but referee George Steele ruled "hand ball." Five minutes later, Vanderhorst waltzed in on Columbus goalie Paul Lisowsky again, only to fall victim of a great save.

THREE GAMES AT VANCOUVER FOR N.Z. TEAM

New Zealand's touring rugby team, which meets Victoria Crimson Tide at Macdonald Park, on March 17, will also play three games in Vancouver.

Stated to play six matches in California before arriving in British Columbia, the New Zealanders will play University of British Columbia on March 22, Vancouver Reps on March 24 and British Columbia Reps on March 27.

Roaming Henry May Be Trouble For Royals, Too

Victoria United manager Wally Milligan thumbed last from an oldtimer hockey break in Saturday and came up with a "rover."

It's not actually a new soccer trick, but it's seldom used. Milligan's decision to bring a rover into play last weekend was the key tactical move that led to United's crushing 5-0 conquest of Columbus.

The resounding defeat suffered by the first-half champions is still the talk around Pacific Coast Soccer League circles.

"We had a plan," Milligan said after the game, "and it worked."

VIKING VIEWS

By LES MILLIN

This week is sports week at Victoria College. Last week was sports week at Victoria College. Droll though this may be, it's confusing.

Explanation is simple: It was a good idea, so it was held over.

Brainchild of Susan Dickinson, the sports week is an attempt to acquaint all and sundry the benefits accruing to them from the athletics program at the college, and also to whip up a little interest in attending games.

With this in view, a full week of entertainment has been prepared, leading up to the big games at the weekend, hockey and basketball.

Hockey and rugby teams clash in a friendly way on Thursday in a scruffball match, one of those scuffles where each side wins at least a moral victory.

Scheduled Friday is a cross-country race from Gordon Head campus to the Lansdowne campus, male athletes versus female athletes, and the run should be over just in time for a pep rally with cheerleaders and all the trimmings.

Everyone gets down to business on Friday night, when the Vikings meet the Pontiac Chiefs in an attempt to win back their standing as head of the Esquimalt Hockey League.

Basketball action that night includes a junior match against the Renegades as a preliminary, as well as a senior game in which the Vikings will face Skagit Valley Junior College in what promises to be a close and exciting game.

Saturday's sports menu starts off with girls' basketball games, the Valkyries playing the Mariners at 2 on the Central Junior High field, and the league-lagging Bees playing the Ravens at Lansdowne Junior High.

Rugby kicks off next, with the "A" team taking on James Bay Athletic Association at 2:30 at MacDonald Park, and the "B" side playing Oak Bay Wanderers Reds at the college's Gordon Head pitch.

Climaxing the entire week are ice hockey and basketball games.

Viking skaters take on the University of British Columbia at 8 Saturday night in a game that should be rendered even more interesting by the absence of goalie Pat Cain, which may leave a gaping hole in the Viking lineup.

Skagit Valley will have its second crack at the Viking basketball team Saturday night at 8 in the college's Gordon Head gymnasium, and there may even be some fans there.

Last weekend's brilliant basketball didn't attract enough fans to form a decent pinhole team.

This is quite an array of attractions, and it is to be hoped that some of the 1,300 students at Victoria College will take advantage of this week's opportunities.

Past experience, however, has some pessimists on the college athletic council betting they won't.

Gymnastics Meet May Attract American Aces

The cream of the province's gymnastic crop is expected to be in Victoria, March 10, for the British Columbia open championships.

Central Junior High is the site. Entries are also expected from United States stars.

Men will be able to compete in seven events, women in five. There will be three special events for men, two for women.

Entries must be submitted to A.C. Burgess, 1203 Blanshard, no later than February 28.

Mainland Quartet Takes Top Event

Al Lunn's Fraser Valley rink captured the top event in the annual curling bonspiel of Victoria Council 1256 of the Knights of Columbus.

Lunn defeated D. Sherry, of Nanaimo, in the final at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Jim Gordon, of Victoria, downed Port Alberni's J. Lemmerick in the "B" event final, and J. Coullford, Courtenay, defeated H. Fringill, Vancouver, in the consolation final.

Women's winners were Miss E. Scherr, Victoria; Mrs. Laturnus, Victoria, and Mrs. Benoit, Vancouver.

Canucks a Big Reason Flyers Stay in Front

By The Canadian Press

One of the reasons why Edmonton Flyers are in first place in the Western Hockey League's northern division is their unblemished season record against Vancouver Canucks.

Edmonton made it nine wins in as many meetings with Vancouver this season by trouncing the Canucks 7-0 in the only game played Tuesday night. The win, before a home crowd of 2,856, also enabled the Flyers to increase their lead over second-place Calgary Stampede to four points.

Canucks are floundering in last place in Northern standings, 22 points back of the third-place Seattle Totems.

Rookie forward Larry Jeffrey paced the Edmonton win with two goals. Defenceman John Miszuk and Keith Walsh and forward Tom Burgess, three more rookies, had a goal each.

Veteran forwards Don Polle and Ed Joyal completed the rout.

The shutout was the first of the season for goaltender Gilles Boisvert, who had to stop only 17 shots.

One of the standouts for the Flyers was right winger Billy McNeill, who had three assists. McNeill, who played 23 games with Edmonton last season, now has six points in the three games since coming out of retirement.

The Flyers also had rugged forward Doug Smith in their lineup. Young, a rough defenceman, was farmed out to Edmonton by the parent Detroit Red Wings who last week recalled forward Chuck Holmes from the Flyers.

Young was switched to a forward position Tuesday in the absence of Holmes.

The struggling Canucks suffered an additional setback when forwards Bob McCusker and Wayne Hall were injured in Tuesday's game. Both are expected to be out of action about two weeks.

However, the Canucks had one bit of cheerful news today. They have acquired forward Bob Annable from Quebec Aces of the American League.

NO TROUBLE WINNING BUT SNELL SLOWS DOWN

INVERCARGILL, N.Z. (Reuters) — Peter Snell, running for the first time since he broke the world mile record Saturday, had little difficulty winning an 880-yard race here tonight.

Snell, the Olympic 800 metres champion, won a slow race in one minute, 52.2 seconds, with W. E. Cunliffe of the United States second.

ARGOS' ROTE TO PLAY OUT OPTION Are Greener Fields Beckoning?

TORONTO (CP)—Quarterback Tobin Rote said Tuesday he will play out his option with Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League's Eastern Conference next season and has no intention of signing a new contract.

This will leave the Argos facing with the necessity of finding a replacement or understudy for Rote this year, starting from scratch with a new quarterback in 1963.

Rote, a 10-year veteran of Detroit Lions of the National League, came to the Argos two years ago on a two-year contract which gave the club an additional year's option on his services. After that year is up, he becomes a free agent.

Dallas Texans are reportedly seeking Rote's services.

Free Fourth Ride Asked on Ferries

Commuter passes with one trip in four free on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries were proposed in the legislature Tuesday by Social Creditor Dan Campbell.

Mr. Campbell, MLA for Coquitlam, said his plan would encourage more automobile traffic on the ferries.

"You might even increase revenue by encouraging a sort of bonus type commuter pass system," he said in the throne speech debate.

He suggested issuing a four-trip card to motorists: they would pay $5 each for three trips, nothing for the fourth.

"Why can't you just reduce the fare — it's too high anyway," commented fellow-Island MLA John Squire (NDP-CCF-Alberni).

"Is this a form of trading stamp?" quipped Gordon Dowling (NDP-CCF-Burnaby).

COURTENAY — The district school board has announced plans to establish all grade 11 to 13 students in a central high school.

The change, slated to go into effect next fall, will require all senior students from Cumberland and Tsolum High Schools to attend Courtenay High. Present school facilities in the two areas will remain unchanged except they will house pupils from grades eight, nine and 10 only.

District superintendent of schools, C. T. Rendle said there are many minor problems, including that of transportation to be worked out before the plan goes into operation.

NANAIMO — Taxpayers from South Oyster and Cedar have met to protest increased assessment of their property. The 50 persons agreed to protest individually before turning to united action.

NANAIMO — Building permits issued here for January totalled $99,400 or $7,000 more than in the same month of 1961.

DUNCAN — Envelope and open collections "have never been higher," Rev. Brian Page, rector of St. John's Anglican Church, said at the annual vestry meeting here.

He noted that Sunday morning services are always well attended, but spoke of a "falling off" at evening worship.

"I'm told there are people who like to watch television on Sunday evenings, but I'm sure they would not make this an excuse for not coming to church," he said.

Re-elected as people's warden and rector's warden respectively were Peter F. Bird and Will Dobson.

Other members of the church committee for the year are Paul Aldersey, Robert K. Cairns, Joseph Calverley, C. B. James, Harry Jenner, H. C. Hanson, R. T. M. Dobell, G. W. Highmoor, J. E. Moore, Roy Elvins, and Miss Kay White-side, secretary.

PORT RENFREW — Port Renfrew United Church will hold a junior choir practice in the community hall, on Saturday, at 7 p.m.

Presenting ROLLS-ROYCE The World's Finest Car

Until Feb. 3

The finished car is test-driven over hundreds of miles of winding English roads, before delivery to you.

The exterior is finished with fourteen coats of paint. Eight full hides are used in upholstering the seats, selected from thirty or more to obtain perfect matching of color, texture and grain.

There are three independent systems of power brakes on a Rolls-Royce.

There is no soundproof padding in a Rolls-Royce. The quiet comes from mechanical perfection.

You can lubricate the chassis while the car is in motion, by depressing a pedal from the driver's seat.

Every nut and bolt, every cotter-pin and washer in your Rolls-Royce is chromium or cadmium plated to guard against corrosion.

Annual depreciation is low and you will keep your Rolls-Royce for a long time—the average is eleven years.

The Rolls-Royce never becomes obsolete. You are assured of a continuity of styling that protects your investment. The styling of the Rolls-Royce, year after year, is always clean, graceful and functional—never outlandish.

Every Rolls-Royce engine and chassis is guaranteed for three years.

'Gorging Behind Wheat Curtain'

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul-Emile Cardinal Léger, Roman

Catholic archbishop of Montreal said today Canadians "no longer see what is beyond our wheat curtain."

Speaking to the Montreal District Chamber of Commerce, he said:

"We believe that all men eat as we do and that hunger in the world is a legend that is told by missionaries and world travellers."

"We are an over-fed people while, around us, 60 per cent of humanity has less than is necessary."

He said Canada could welcome hundreds of thousands of immigrants without affecting the standard of living. He said employers do not have the right to hire immigrants at a below-normal wage. By doing so, an employer "gives rise to the popular sentiment that immigrants take jobs away from those who have always lived there."

A 65 per cent drop in the lake trout catch was reported for Lake Superior in the first nine months of 1961.

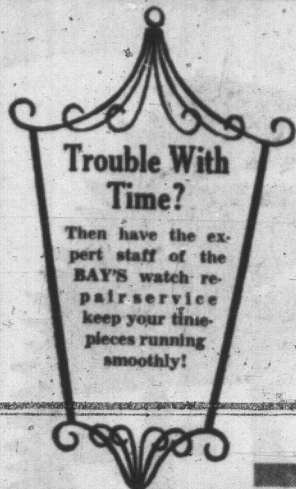

ROYAL YORK STRIKE
'MAY GO ON FOR YEARS'

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 400 striking employees of the Royal York Hotel voted Tuesday to continue their walkout and reject settlement proposals made by Labor Minister Warrender.

The labor minister accused union leaders later of violating an agreement not to speak out against his proposals and predicted the strike, already nine months old, "could go on for years."

University Called 'Perfect Home Industry for Victoria'

By IAIN HUNTER

Dr. Ismael Din Pal has come to what he believes to be the ideal "university town."

Having attended universities, either as student or lecturer, in Britain, the United States, eastern Canada, and his native Pakistan, Dr. Pal has answered the challenge of the establishment of a university in Victoria.

This is not the often publicized material expansion of the university "in terms of bricks and mortar." Most educationalists would agree with Dr. Pal that academic expansion is the vital element in the establishment of a university.

"If the college wants to become a really good university it must offer its students a large choice of courses. Versatility in the curriculum will also stimulate academic exchange and attract the best men in various fields," he said.

Dr. Pal is engaged at the college for two years in order to introduce courses in international trade and advanced economic theory. He regards the theory of international trade as his specialty, having taken his PhD and taught in this field at McGill University in Montreal.

He has studied also at the universities of the Punjab, London and Harvard.

He only came to Victoria College because he was attracted by the "pioneering spirit" of its students and staff. And Victoria instantly impressed him as the perfect location for a university on the model of the "university town" of Durham in England and East Lansing, Michigan, "which virtually lives off Michigan State."

He regards a university as potentially a perfect home industry for Victoria," he said. By a university in Victoria, Dr. Pal means one entirely separate from UBC. Having grown up and taught in the "affiliated system," he has found that the parent body often over shadows its affiliated colleges.

"This has a psychological effect upon the smaller institution, and in California it has deteriorated into a political game," he said.

Dr. Pal said the establishment of several autonomous universities in the same province is quite in keeping with the diffusion of society which is a basic element of Western culture. He believes that the "babies must be allowed to grow."

Canadian universities are well regarded abroad, he said, a fact which most Canadians do not seem to realize. Canadian students have the "habit" of travelling abroad to do post-graduate work in spite of the fact that they can get just as good instruction in this country.

Victoria College, already well known for its high scholastic standard, will expand into the post-graduate field as well.

"At first the college might have to accept the 'spill over' from UBC, but being able to offer more individual attention, it will soon attract students on its own, Dr. Pal believes.

He feels that the college should aim at an enrollment of above 3,000 students, "but anything above a 9,000 enrollment becomes unmanageable," he said.

In stressing the position of the university in Victoria as a "home industry," Dr. Pal said that it should not withdraw from the city entirely.

"To maintain its connection with the city, the university should be only partially residential," he believes.

The new campus is designed to house approximately one quarter of the student enrollment.

Dr. Pal is in Victoria with his Canadian wife and daughter until 1964 at least.

DR. PAL... more than bricks.

MONTE ROBERTS

For a couple of days, I have been following that well-known bit of B.C. Electric advice: "Take a bus, leave the driving to us."

This doesn't quite qualify me as an expert on metropolitan transit.

But it does lead me to the conclusion, running a bus system in Victoria must be about as profitable as manufacturing instant snowballs in Baffinland.

As a 48-hour wonder in the field of mass transportation, I can see why former Mayor Percy Scurrell ran for the nearest fallout shelter every time it was suggested the city should take over the buses.

There is nothing, I hasten to add, much wrong with the vehicles involved (except for the exhaust fumes), and nothing—positively nothing—wrong with the drivers of same.

Skilled drivers, they are, and courteous diplomats, and patient with the likes of me, who has a tendency to stand in front of the centre doors and wonder why they don't open.

What is wrong is the fact that the buses don't seem to go where the people (such as me) wish to go.

And if, by some odd chance, the buses do go where the people want to go; they don't go there when the people want to go there.

For example, I waited for 18 minutes for a bus, and when it got there, and I bribed my way aboard (don't you LOVE those welcome aboard signs on the top step—the one you trip over?) with a cash outlay of 13 cents, and the bus embarked on a voyage comparable only to the Odyssey.

We turned left, we turned right, we made a loop, we waited at an intersection to keep on schedule, and we eventually arrived within about four blocks of where I wished to go.

During all this twisting, turning, slowing, stopping, and accelerating, I was accompanied by two other paying guests, making a total gross revenue for the bus company of 39 cents.

I will admit, there are times when the buses go where the people are willing to go, to such an extent that even King Oscar wouldn't have nerve enough to pack so many sardines into one vehicle.

This, however, happens so infrequently the 39-cent payload is more the rule than the exception.

You can see why my ambition in life is to not own the bus service in Victoria.

Yet I hate to be accused of a negative approach.

The only positive solution which comes to mind, after my two-day survey, is this:

Pass legislation compelling the people to wish to go where the buses go, when the buses wish to go there.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

B.C. Electric revenue from its transit operations slipped drastically during the final quarter of 1961, City Hall learned today.

The drop sharply reduced the franchise fee collected from the company by the city. It is based on 3 per cent of gross revenue.

A cheque for $5,286 was received for the three months ending Dec. 31, compared with a payment of $6,185 for the corresponding quarter in 1961.

Founder's Day meeting of the Frank Hobbs PTA will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the school and will feature a demonstration of the Cuisinair method of teaching arithmetic.

Roundabout Rush-Hour Test Slowed

City Hall has put the brakes on a proposal for a quick-test of diverting rush-hour traffic at the Fountain Circle.

But investigation will be under way to find a method of trying out the idea without creating major inconveniences, Mayor R. B. Wilson indicated today.

The experiment, involving barricades between 4 and 6 p.m. to divert all southbound traffic onto Government in order to avoid jams in the Roundabout, was proposed by works committee two weeks ago. It was to have been tried within a couple of days.

COMPLICATIONS

However, a second and third look at the proposal has unveiled numerous complications—including how to reroute some eight bus lines that use the Roundabout during that period and how to avoid creating a major tieup at the Bay and Government intersection.

A round-table discussion Tuesday, by representatives of the transit service, city police and city engineering department, resulted in a decision to obtain technical reports on how and whether the experiment can be launched.

"There is no urgency for speed so we want to be sure," Mayor Wilson said.

Victoria Aged Pensioners, Branch 3, will be admitted free to the Auto Show at Memorial Arena between 1 and 4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Cards must be shown.

Reconstruction of Shelburne Street between Cedar Hill Cross Road and Ruby Road, at a cost of $20,000, has been approved by Saanich public works committee.

The project is part of an overall program to reconstruct Shelburne through to Mount Douglas.

So far Saanich has enlarged and reconstructed Shelburne from Dairy Road to Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Reeve Stanley Murphy said curbs and gutters will not be installed in the new project until more development takes place in the surrounding area.

Saanich public works committee Tuesday gave tentative approval to a list of sidewalks to be constructed this year in the municipality.

They include Cedar Hill Road from Cedar Hill Cross Road to Ruby Road from Shelburne to Gordon Head; Tillicum from Burnside to Trans-Canada; Cadboro Bay Road from Sinclair to Tudor.

Capital Region Planning Board today asked Greater Victoria municipalities to put up $24,500 for its proposed $32,262 budget this year, an increase of $7,000 over 1961.

Sharing formula for the area planning board would appropriate $9,000 from the provincial government.

Other grants would have to come from: Victoria, $10,961; Saanich, $7,700; Oak Bay $2,981; Esquimalt, $2,085; Central Saanich, $497; and Sidney, $274.

Increase in the municipal share results from expenditure last year of a federal grant towards the Victoria urban renewal survey which will not be renewed.

'I NEVER GOT TO SCHOOL'

Road Sign Learnin' Didn't Slow Joyce

By JOHN BASSETT

Today is mommy's birthday. But unfortunately for Beverly, 12, and Graham Collier, three months, mommy won't be home to make a party of it.

She'll be singing up a storm in the Victoria Memorial Arena for the 1962 Auto Show.

BEST VIEW

As she groons from a platform above the arena floor she has best view of the $200,000 worth of shining new cars. Over 50 models are being displayed by eight member firms of the Victoria Automobile Dealers' Association.

The doors are open from 1

Parishioners Applaud Canon Biddle

Three hundred members of St. John's Anglican Church congregation, holding their first annual meeting since the rebuilding of the church, Tuesday evening reserved their greatest ovation for Rev. Canon George Biddle.

Capt. T. B. T. Hewitt, newly elected people's warden, said the cheers for the popular rector were for his courage following the disastrous fire which gutted the interior of the church Dec. 9, 1960.

"After the rebuilding we finished up with a deficiency of only $50,000," Capt. Hewitt said. "We also have taken on a commitment of $40,000, and aim to get rid of both charges in three years."

HEWITT ELECTED

Elected with Capt. Hewitt were J. E. Brown, rector's warden, and C. G. Forryan, church treasurer.

"On the church committee are Cyril Chapman, Dr. D. A. M. Patterson, J. G. Duck, C. C. Wyatt, R. W. Denson, A. G. F. Sutton, R. W. Phipps, Jack Ozard, S. C. Hawkins and Mr. Forryan. Mr. Hewitt's also was named vestry clerk.

Synod delegates will be Mrs. J. E. Brown, Major Kirkpatrick Crockett, Mr. Forryan, Capt. Hewitt, F. G. Mulliner, and Mr. Patterson. Ruridege delegates will be Dr. W. W. Bell and Mr. Sutton.

p.m. to midnight with stage shows at 3.15, 7.15 and 10.15 p.m. The show continues until Saturday night.

"Victoria seems a wonderful place," she says. "My only regret is I can't spend my birthday with my husband (former CBC sound producer Orm Collier) and the children."

STARTED AT FIVE

Joyce, 32 today, looks back on a vagabond show business career which started when she was five years old. "I can still remember it," she says. "Dad lost his job in Saskatchewan so he decided to go to Detroit to look for one. We packed everything, including my sister and two brothers into a home-made trailer and headed for the states."

In order to garner some grocery money the family decided to stop in towns along the way and put on variety shows.

The family didn't make Detroit. Their show was such a success they made a permanent business of it. "I never did get to school," said the four-foot-eleven-inch 100-pounder, "but I learned to read by watching all the road signs."

Joyce mused back on the years the family travelled with their show and trailer. "We'd show anywhere," she said. "I can remember once in Montana, when I was about seven, singing to the miners on top of the bar, and they would toss silver dollars into my outstretched skirt."

FINALLY TELEVISION

Her career blossomed from saloons to fashionable saloons and finally to television. For the past five years, until this season, she sang regularly on the Cross-Canada Hit Parade with Wally Koster, another veteran.

"I thought the show would fold sooner than it did," Joyce said. "The range of popular music today appeals to only a small percentage, the 13- to 17-year-olds, and you can't have a successful show with that small an audience."

Now, on her second birthday past the 30 mark, the petite singer is happy to be rid of a busy schedule.

"I only accept the odd TV spot, do rare club dates, and guest performances," she says. "As for her children, they are going to stay home, and have nothing to do with travelling trailers and suitcase living. "I want them to get some good hard booklearnin'."

TRAFFIC STUDY SUPPORTED

Mayor R. B. Wilson today threw his support behind a recommended Greater Victoria traffic study.

The study, estimated to cost $76,000, would plot traffic patterns expected for the next 20 years and outline how to plan roads to cope with the constant increase in traffic.

Cost of the survey by outside consultants would be split 50-50 between the provincial government and the four municipalities, under a recommendation made by the Capital Region Planning Board.

Victoria's share probably would be in the neighborhood of $12,000.

MOST HELPFUL

"I think such a study would be most helpful," Mayor Wilson said. "The volume of vehicles using our streets is growing constantly and a Greater Victoria study would be of great value in helping us agree on an overall plan for handling the extra traffic."

Mayor Wilson pointed out that road construction in each municipality inevitably has an effect in adjoining municipalities.

"We're all tied into it together so we should try to solve the problems together," he said. "The study was proposed by a sub-committee of municipal engineers which examined the need and a traffic consultant's outline of the scope for a study."

Saanich public works committee Tuesday night recommended its council adopt the recommendation provided the provincial government pays more than half the cost.

School Cost Increase $450,000

Councils of the four Greater Victoria municipalities have until Feb. 20 to inform the school board whether they accept its budget which they received on Tuesday.

The budget is an increase over last year's of some $450,000—a total of $8,760,000.

The main unknown factor facing the municipal councils is the basic levy for district taxation which determines the level of municipal contributions.

Cost-sharing between the local municipalities will not be determined until mid-April when the basic school tax levy for the province as a whole is set by the cabinet.

HIGHER TAXES

This could mean slightly higher local taxes, some officials believe.

The Greater Victoria budget, along with the budgets of other school districts in the province, will be reviewed by the department of education before it is given final approval.

Main reasons for the increase in the budget are the estimated five per cent jump in enrolment requiring more teachers, the need for new equipment for elementary schools to accommodate grade seven students, and five new occupational classes needing special teaching aids.

School board officials described this increase over last year as normal.

Navy Speeds Shelling Probe

Officers Apologize To Elderly Widow

Naval board of inquiry into the shelling of an Olympic Peninsula logging town has been advanced from Monday to Thursday morning, Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, announced today.

His announcement came following positive identification of shell fragments found at Clallam Bay, Wash., as of Canadian manufacture, and of the anti-aircraft type used by HMCS Skeena, a destroyer escort carrying out gunnery practice in Juan de Fuca Strait Monday.

Skeena and a sister ship, HMCS Saguenay, will return to port at 8.30 a.m. Thursday, instead of Friday afternoon, as previously scheduled, so personnel can appear before the inquiry board.

THREE FRAGMENTS

Admiral Finch-Noyes said only three small fragments have been found so far, and were brought back to Esquimalt by an RCN investigating team. He said the fragments were identified at the Rocky Point arsenal as three-inch, 50-calibre anti-aircraft ammunition used by Canadian destroyer escorts.

While in Clallam Bay, two of the RCN's investigating officers called on a 70-year-old widow, and promised never to shell her home again.

"That's all I care... that they don't do it any more," said Mrs. Louise Gossom whose home was hit Monday by a fragment of a shell.

IN SCHOOLLAND

The two officers, Lt. Cmdr. Douglas Sherlock and Lt. Cmdr. Hugh Plant, visited the town, 40 miles from Victoria, after shells fired during target practice exploded over the area. Fragments landed in a schoolyard; in streets, on the roof of Mrs. Gossom's home and near a lighthouse.

"I was under a tree in the garden," said Mrs. Gossom. "I didn't know what was happening—I thought they were shooting out on the street."

TOOK COVER

Suddenly a fragment about six inches long, caromed off the roof on her house. The frightened widow took cover until the shelling ceased, then ventured outside for a look at her roof.

"It didn't do any damage; it took off three shingles, that's all," she said.

"Was I upset?"

"I didn't sleep all night—I'm sick."

FELL NEAR BOY

Greatest concern was over the fact that several shells burst over the grounds of the community's school when classes were to be dismissed.

One piece of shell fell near a boy, who was just returning home.

Ferry Engine Subsidy Queried Again

Premier Bennett has sent a second telegram to Prime Minister Diefenbaker asking about subsidies for his new ferries.

But it appears Ottawa has decided to pay only towards ferry parts made in Canada.

Mr. Bennett sent his first telegram early in the year when the Maritime Commission told him it would not recommend a full 40 per cent subsidy unless the engines for new Island-mainland ferries were built in Canada.

A British firm was low bidder for the engines.

In Ottawa Tuesday, Transport Minister Leon Balcer said the subsidy will be determined on the amount of Canadian content in the new ferries, to be used on the former Black Ball route from Nanaimo to Horseshoe Bay.

"This presumably reiterates the Maritime Commission stand."

However, ferry manager Monty Aldous said today that there still is no decision on a contract for the engines.

$1,400 Theft In Saanich

Saanich detectives said Tuesday they are investigating the theft of $1,400 in cash and jewellery from a Rowland Street home.

The robbery apparently took place sometime Sunday night from the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Stancil, 3832 Rowland, while the owners were out.

A back door was forced to gain entry into the house, police said.

Pocketbook 'Touch' May Arouse Voters

The youngest woman member of Parliament believes that people should take more interest in politics.

"The Liberal Party plan to have the national treasury pay election campaign expenses may help to awaken them," says Judy LaMarsh, 37, only woman member of the Opposition.

"Everyone is interested in finances and in what is done with their money. This could lead them into the broader field of being interested in questions that affect the life of Canada."

The Niagara MP believes that an election "could be very close at hand."

"It will be very quick, or else not at all," she says.

"The Diefenbaker government has lost so much ground it cannot recover; Lester Pearson is confident—and the time is ripe to return to good government."

Since her election in 1960, Miss LaMarsh has established a reputation for speaking up in the House—for being something of a "prickly" in the side of the Prime Minister.

She believes this may be because the House of Commons gives "a certain amount of leeway" to female members.

DON'T GANG UP

"They don't understand us and so they don't gang up on us with both feet. They make the mistake of seeing women in the mass, not as people."

"We are individuals," she said forcefully, "and should be assessed as such."

More women are needed in government, Miss LaMarsh says, "but not because they wear skirts. Rather because they have ability, charm, and are able to do something for the country."

Films at Esquimalt

Three films will be shown Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the Banquet Room of the Esquimalt Sports Arena. They will be "Life in the Woods," "Where Mountains Float," and "Neighbors." Admission is free.

our country. These are the women who will be a credit to us and to Canada."

Miss LaMarsh thinks it "presumptuous to say married women are taking jobs away from men. And, as far as married women with children working, it is a matter between those women and their husbands."

"In my experience as a lawyer there is no more delinquency in such homes than there is in homes where the mothers drink and play bridge to excess."

"Just as many criminal types come from the so-called good homes where mothers stay at home as from the homes of working mothers."

CABINET POST?

If the Liberals win the next federal election, there is a good possibility that Miss LaMarsh would be named a cabinet minister. It could be in labour, immigration or Indian affairs. She has taken a prominent part in debates on problems of these departments.

Is she interested? Of course! Miss LaMarsh spoke to Liberal women's groups Tuesday afternoon and at a meeting of Saanich Liberals at Langford in the evening.

ASK The TIMES

Q. What are the ingredients in tooth powder? P.S.

A. Tooth powders usually contain a mild abrasive such as finely powdered chalk, a detergent or soaplike material, a sweetening agent other than sugar and various flavoring oils. A gum "binder" and glycerine are added to these basic materials in toothpaste.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to answer questions of legal problems. Add Deep-Sea Sponges To Your Beauty Aids

By PENNY SAVER

When applying make-up have you ever considered trying a sponge? A real honest to goodness deep-sea sponge? They're perfect for getting on a pancake base.

And they're easy to keep clean too. Just rinse in soap and water now and again and they'll be fresh as new.

Sponges range in price according to size, and the cosmetic ones are from 15 cents to 50 cents. Bath-size sponges, wonderful too, range from $4 to $10.

Ever heard of loofahs? I hadn't until the other day. They're underwater cucumbers. You purchase them in a long, flat shape, soak them in cold water and they swell into an elongated tapered round shape.

There use? For washing your back! They have a rough texture that does a good job but that is not abrasive and will not irritate the skin. By cutting them in half, hollowing out part of the centre and slipping in a cake of soap, you'd have a handy bath mitt, too.

Loofahs are selling for only 59 cents each.

A recent arrival on the market is a new hand lotion in that lovely Quisque Fleurs scent. It's packaged in a plastic bottle with a dispenser top. All you do is squeeze and the right amount is dispensed easily and without mess.

A small plastic dispenser, and it can be refilled, is included in the package for your handbag. Also in the package is a small bottle of rich, sweet-smelling bath oil. Entire set is priced at a mere $1.95.

So girls, if you want to glamorize your bath and pretty up your hands, call me and I'll tell you where I shopped today. Penny, EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY ...

Help Her Now!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I feel that I'm a complete failure as a mother. We have a beautiful, vivacious, intelligent, 16-year-old daughter. We did all we could to guide her mentally, socially and morally. She developed physically much earlier than most girls. From the time she was in the 7th grade her teachers have written or called me concerning her conduct with boys. I refused to believe the things she told me because our daughter denied them and I wanted so much to believe her. Suddenly the truth was brought home to us. Our daughter had been lying to us and, without going into detail, we were completely fooled. She is not "in trouble," but she could have been. She is popular and goes with "nice" boys, but even nice boys slip occasionally.

What could happen. What do you advise?

EXTREMELY WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Every teenager should have someone with whom she can talk frankly, without fear of censure or punishment. That person, ideally, is her mother. If you cannot cultivate that relationship between you, send her to a psychiatrist, clergyman or guidance counselor. Your daughter needs desperately to learn much concerning sex, emotions and the maturing process.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who keeps annoying a fellow who plainly does not want her? She has been after me for 12 years. I am told she has the idea that one day I will break down and marry her. I have never been in her company except for occasions when we have been "paired" off by mutual friends who think we make "a nice couple." She keeps calling me and has even come to my apartment uninvited.

I am in my fifties and if she were the last female on earth I would sooner marry a man.

HOUNDED

DEAR HOUNDED: Why do you let her bother you that way? If you did, I'm sure you would have no more trouble with her.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who has many good qualities, but he has one stub-

Treasure Auction

A treasure auction is planned in connection with a rummage sale arranged by the women's committee to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery and to be held in the gallery, 1042 Moss Street, on Friday from 3 to 6 p.m.

Included amongst treasures to be sold are a beautiful black Canton shawl, richly embroidered; some lovely pieces of jewelry; two children's chairs, 100 years old (one a little rush-bottom rocking chair); and unique candlesticks of glass on sterling bases.

Came Rebekah Lodge, No. 45, 1007, Odd Fellows' Hall, Douglas Street, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Social following.

CITY OFFICIAL NAMED CENTENNIAL LEADER

Victoria centennial committee Tuesday night appointed a city technician as the new centennial co-ordinator.

He is Frank Preston, 29-year-old employee in the city engineer's department who has co-ordinated winter work projects and the city's participation in the B.C. Electric underground wiring program.

He will be given leave of absence from his city post to carry out the centennial program. Archie Willis, retiring co-ordinator, will assist him for the first week.

Committee chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said Mr. Preston, among a dozen applicants for the position, was highly recommended by city engineer J. C. Garnett.

"We feel we have chosen a good person for the job," he said.

FINANCING INQUIRY PROPOSED

Socred Asks Education Aid Through Use of Income Tax

Provincial education aid through income tax was proposed Tuesday by Social Credit MLA Dan Campbell of Comox.

Calling for a complete new look at education policies, he told the legislature:

● "There should be a royal commission on education financing;

● "Hostile" municipal politicians should "be removed" from school financing;

● Local school boards should not only set the school tax, but accept the responsibility for "selling" it to the taxpayer;

● The education department should clear up "blurred" policy and programs and issue clearer statements;

● Universities should be devoted to quality not quantity;

● Parents should give up the "disdain" they feel for the "general" non-university program in schools.

Big Increases in School Costs Due

Mr. Campbell said municipal officials do not have any sympathy for the school tax levy; they don't set it, they just raise it.

But it was still good value for money.

"Let the school board take the responsibility for selling its tax decisions to the public, for convenience let the tax continue to be collected by municipalities," said Mr. Campbell, a former teacher.

But he warned there will be "substantial rises" in school costs in the next few years.

And the provincial government had a responsibility to pay its share, as well.

"We cannot escape the responsibility. We can offer no one a free ride on education. And so I feel we must accept the idea of using the income tax levy as our responsibility," he said.

This must be because the federal government has "not even come close to fairness in its dealings with the provinces," particularly British Columbia.

Mr. Campbell said he was sure that a royal commission would prove impartially that the British Columbia government is being more generous to schools than any other province. But "the time has come" when an inquiry is "desirable" and for a reassessment of the sense of values involved.

He said that the education department should sponsor an annual education conference in B.C. and local boards should sponsor regional seminars.

The department should send out more literature on its policies and programs, and should work with a permanent "evaluation commission" which continually reviewed standards.

Mr. Campbell said a lot of argument about the B.C. education system was "gibberish."

In fact, said Mr. Campbell, Johnny might not want to go.

Guilty Pleas On Five Cheque Charges

Donald Schultz, no fixed address, pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to five charges of uttering forged cheques.

Police said the cheques were cashed in various stores and hotels in the city in early November and December last year.

The cheques were made out for $75, $11, $35 and two for $25. Schultz used the names J. S. Dillon and Don Smith to sign the cheques.

Magistrate William Ostler was told Schultz walked into the detective office on Saturday to give himself up and said he wanted "to clear up all the charges."

The magistrate remanded Schultz to Feb. 7 for probation and psychiatric reports and sentence.

'DEFENDO' FOR POLICE

Following the lead of Oak Bay, Victoria police will learn the tactics of a new combat method known as defendo.

Police commission Tuesday approved the spending of $170 for training of two Victoria constables in the art of defensive protection.

The course, which has already been adopted by Oak Bay police, will take 50 hours' practice by the constables, who will then have sufficiently mastered it to teach the rest of the force.

Bonner Riles Strachan With '39 Press Quotes

Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday recapped his government's "two-river" power policy as a "must" for B.C. and also continued his war with the New Democratic Party.

Amid NDP cries of "red-baiting", Mr. Bonner again attacked the opposition for anti-Americanism, and ticked them off for naming private individuals in the legislature.

He was referring to Opposition Leader Robert Strachan's pokes Monday at oil magnate Frank McMahon.

Mr. Bonner said it was "discourteous" for private individuals could not defend themselves in the legislature.

"SOFT-HEADED"

The attorney-general attacked the NDP-CCF as "soft-headed" and read a list of press quotes from former CCF leaders opposing Canada's entry into the Second World War.

In the course of this tirade, Mr. Strachan angrily denied that the CCF had opposed Canada going to the aid of Britain. He said only one CCFer had voted against it—J. S. Woodsworth.

Mr. Bonner read a quote from former CCF leader M. J. Coldwell dated Sept. 9, 1939, that Canada should limit its assistance overseas to economic aid and should not conscript troops or send an expeditionary force.

He said the CCF and, now the NDP were pursuing "an irresponsible external policy" which now was directed against America.

MORE COSTLY

Mr. Bonner's power statements contained nothing new in policy.

He said developing both the Columbia and Peace Rivers is the way to provide long-term low-cost power in British Columbia.

Developing the rivers consecutively, instead of together, would be more costly and not provide the same stimulus to industry.

Salvage of the Columbia downstream benefits, as British Columbia proposes, would mean earlier rather than later development of at-site power in Canada.

It would base British Columbia industrial growth on power made in Canada rather than diminishing downstream benefit power. It would also finance the three Columbia treaty dams, speed a national, and eventually, international grid.

On the benefit sale, he said a long-term (20 years) contract "must be part of the plan".

HOUSE BACKS PROBE OF TRADING STAMPS

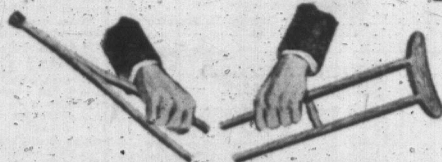

The legislature Tuesday took the first move toward a committee study of trading stamp laws.

"The House gave approval for a special committee to name members for the trading stamp inquiry," as proposed by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The committee is expected to hear briefs from stores in favor of stamps and other merchants who oppose them. It should get under way next week.

'Suicide Row' Probe Requested

An engineering investigation to probe causes of highway deaths on "12-mile suicide row" from Pattullo Bridge to the U.S. border was requested in the legislature Tuesday by James Rhodes (NDP-CCF-Delta).

He told the legislature there are more traffic fatalities there than on any other 12-mile stretch of highway in B.C.

In 1961, 13 people died—five of them on Pattullo Bridge—compared with the 319 total traffic deaths in the province.

A dim but compassionate view of humanity is expressed in Samuel Beckett's subtly symbolic play which Victoria's Intimate Stage presented for the first of three performances at Victoria College auditorium Tuesday night.

It is a play whose basic outlook is one of unrelieved pessimism and yet this pessimism is constantly stated in terms that are wryly comic.

INTRIGUING
Puzzled though the average audience may be by the morose philosophizing in symbolized form, most will find the play's very obtrusiveness intriguing and be oblivious to the bitter core of its laughter, enjoying only what appears as its farcical elements.

MARKETING BOARDS PROPOSED BY FARMERS

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal action to permit national marketing boards was urged today by the National Farmers' Union as an alternative to "bringing the three largest meat packing companies under public ownership."

The union's annual brief to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet asked federal legislation under the British North America Act "providing for the establishment of national marketing boards with mandatory powers and controls over the marketing of commodities produced on farms, including those operated or owned by processors, distributors and manufacturers."

Medical Tests Urged For All Motorists

Medical examination for all motorists was recommended in the legislature Tuesday by James Rhodes, NDP-CCF member for Delta constituency.

In the throne speech debate he pointed out there is too much variation in compulsory medical examination charges to drivers in the over-70 age group.

They range from $5 to $35 in his riding, he said, and suggested the government should establish a fixed fee.

It would be a good idea, in fact, for all drivers to have such an examination. The motor vehicles branch requires that autos meet certain mechanical requirements (on the lower mainland) and "it should also be our responsibility to see that drivers are medically fit to operate those mechanically fit vehicles," Mr. Rhodes said.

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—Pretoria council's management committee has banned Japan's swimming team from using the Pretoria municipal pool on its tour of South Africa starting next month.

Four Islanders Elected By Foresters
Four Vancouver Island men were elected to the council of the Association of B.C. Foresters at the group's 14th annual meeting in Nanaimo.

Re-elected was John S. Stokes of the B.C. Forest Service in Victoria. New councillors are Irving K. Barber, Nanaimo, manager of forest operations division, MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.; Raymond R. Lejeune of the federal forestry department, Victoria, and Frank G. Rainsford, Victoria forester.

President is Eric W. Robinson, forester in charge of the Forest Service ranger school at Green Timbers.

Ottawa Caught With Ads Down

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday the policy on future Canadian government advertising "will be in keeping with that required of other Canadian advertisers."

He was replying in the Commons to Hazen Argue, House leader of the CCF-New Democrat Party group, who noted an Ottawa Citizen report that the federal government is the biggest single advertiser in the February issue of Reader's Digest.

Mr. Argue questioned whether this was in line with recently proposed government legislation "the supposed aim of which is to encourage more advertising revenues for Canadian periodicals."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the advertising in Reader's Digest was contracted by the government early in 1961, before the report of the royal commission on publications. Recent government proposals were based on that report.

Mr. Diefenbaker on January 22 announced pending legislation would remove deductibility for tax purposes of advertising placed in foreign-owned magazines. This would be modified to permit 50 per cent deduction where the magazines now are published in Canada. Reader's Digest has printed its Canadian editions in Montreal for several years.

FOOTHOLD FOR MEDICINE

Excavation for new $2,623,000 five-storey wing at Royal Jubilee Hospital is near completion, with only rock outcrops to remove and elevator pits to complete. In meantime cribbing has started for cement footings, and materials are arriving daily. Crane seen in picture will rise with building, then will be dismantled and removed. It can be operated by remote control from portable console. Prime contractor is Burns and Dutton Ltd., and completion date is summer of 1963. (Times Photo.)

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

U.S.-Russia Tension Eases

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tensions between the United States and Russia seem to be easing off a bit. Even the Berlin crisis may be in for a prolonged lull.

Britain Bypassed In Moves

LONDON (Reuters) — British officials today were watching closely what appeared to be a thaw in Soviet-American relations.

The British government seemed to have been bypassed in the development but so far there has been no disposition here to react unfavorably to bilateral moves between the U.S. and Russia to improve their relations.

The official British view is to welcome any steps in the direction of reversing the 1961 trend of heightened tension over Berlin.

Officials here said they were not informed by the Americans about Monday's talks in Paris between Pierre Salinger and Mikhail Kharlamov of the Soviet foreign office.

In some quarters here it is believed Russia made a policy change before agreeing to the Salinger-Kharlamov talks and inviting Salinger to Moscow—and also deciding to give prominence to the 80th anniversary of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt's birth with a Moscow reception.

U.S. Slackens Off Europe Army Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Army announced today a cutback of overseas duty for thousands of men whose tours abroad were extended by as much as six months because of the Berlin crisis.

It is the first major cancellation of emergency steps taken last fall to build up U.S. armed strength swiftly.

Army officials said they were unable immediately to estimate how many men are affected.

TOUGH PROGRAM CUTS SUBSIDIES

JFK Faces Farm Fight

WASHINGTON (CP) — It was the toughest program ever proposed by a president since the depression years in the 1930s and undoubtedly will be hotly debated in Congress. It would leave farmers virtually no alternative. Either they would accept stiffer fed-

QUEEN'S CELLAR MISSING 'A DOZEN OF THE BEST'

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard was reported today investigating the theft of a dozen bottles of liquor from Queen Elizabeth's wine cellar at Windsor Castle.

The Daily Express said the theft was discovered by servants on Monday in a routine check of the great wine storeroom, located in what used to be dungeons below the castle.

The Express said the dusty racks of wine and champagne were not touched but a liquor cabinet had been broken into.

It quoted a member of the castle staff as saying the raid was "a major outrage, not so much because of what has been taken but because anyone should do any such thing in the Queen's own home."

Press Blasts U.S. Over Cuba Policy

TORONTO (UPI) — The United States came under fire from all three Toronto daily newspapers today for its role in ousting Cuba from the Organization of American States. (See story, Page 2.)

The Globe and Mail, Star and Telegram said in their editorials that the ouster, which the telegram called an "empty victory" will do more harm than good to hemispheric solidarity.

The editorials said most of the support for the U.S. came from the "banana republics," some of whom, the editorials said, are governed by regimes more repressive than Cuba's. They also said that the opposition to the U.S. came from major democracies such as Brazil and Argentina.

The Globe added that the "fiasco at Punta del Este" was another good reason for this country to stay out of the OAS. The OAS has come dangerously close to being used as an instrument to outlaw and crush an independent state, it said.

Canada Continues Trade With Cuba

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today Canada's policy of continued trade and diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's regime was unchanged by a decision of the hemispheric foreign ministers to exclude Cuba from inter-American activities.

Diefenbaker told the Commons that representatives of all three parties in parliament were agreed that there was no need for a change in policy with Cuba as the goods Canada sold to it were non-strategic.

A spokesman for McMaster University said later he could not explain why the scientist had chosen to give a technical talk at a lecture to which the general public had been invited.

"He's a brilliant man; he helped develop the atomic bomb, but who understood it?" the spokesman said. "I wonder if anyone will come tomorrow night."

Dr. Oppenheimer said there were many contradictions in the scientific world and to prove them drew equations on the blackboard which he claimed were simple to understand.

Under the plan—which the powerful U.S. farm lobby is preparing to attack—more farmers would be encouraged to get out of farming and retrain for other work. Under government financial and other inducements, more of their land would be diverted to soil conservation, parks, wildlife sanctuaries, rural housing and fish ponds.

Pact on Algeria Reported Signed

FOUNTAINS FREEZE IN ROME

LONDON (AP) — A new winter cold snap reached freezing fingers across Europe from Norway's north cape to southern Italy today. Snow fell on the usually sunny city of Bari on the heel of the Italian boot. In Rome the famous fountains froze—a rare event.

Snow fell over most of Britain, hampering railroad and highway traffic and causing many minor accidents.

TERRORISTS STRIKE AGAIN IN KOOTENAYS

TRAIL (CP) — Bomb terrorists struck twice in the West Kootenays early today.

RCMP reported that an empty box car at a pulp mill near Castlegar, 20 miles north of here, was blown up, along with a section of railway track in the same area.

Police said they believe the bombings are in protest against the sittings of a special assize court in Nelson.

So far 10 of the Freedomites have been sentenced to terms up to 12 years in prison.

Rumors Buzz In Paris

PARIS (AP) — France's capital buzzed today with reports that President de Gaulle's government and the Algerian rebels are near agreement—or have reached one—on a ceasefire and independence in the war-torn North African territory.

The Geneva correspondent of the Belgian radio, quoting an authoritative North African source, said complete agreement had been reached at a secret meeting in Vevey, Switzerland.

Paris newspapers carried prominent stories Tuesday night that an agreement was near, and various sources in Paris had the impression crucial developments on Algeria would come this week.

There was no official confirmation of the various peace agreement reports, and none was expected from French officials before Monday night. If agreement has been reached, President de Gaulle presumably will announce it in a radio-TV speech scheduled then.

A spokesman at de Gaulle's Elysee Palace discounted the Belgian radio report, saying that with de Gaulle's speech approaching, such reports could be expected with increasing frequency. He advised a reporter not to pay too much attention to them.

Several developments gave substance to the reports of an impending climax in the Algerian drama, however.

The French Army rolled strong detachments of troops and armored cars into the centre of Algiers Tuesday night "for any eventuality," army sources said. The troop reinforcements were withdrawn this morning, but the show of strength obviously was aimed at the extremist Secret Army Organization waging a campaign of terrorism to keep Algeria French.

Announcement of an accord with the rebel National Liberation Front is certain to infuriate Algeria's European population, and a general uprising is a possibility.

To guard against any attempt at a putsch in Paris itself, the government placed 30 squadrons of mobile gendarmes, totalling more than 4,000 men, in a "strategic reserve" in the Paris region.

Bomb Boss Captured

PARIS (Reuters) — Police today announced the arrest here of a man they described as the leader of Secret Army Organization units responsible for plastic bomb attacks in France.

Police identified the man as Philippe Castille and said he was implicated in a bazooka attempt to kill Gen. Raoul Salan, now head of the secret army, when Salan was French commander in Algeria in 1956.

They said documents seized indicated Castille was the organizer of a series of 17 plastic explosions in Paris on the night of Jan. 17.

Forty-four pounds of plastic explosive and documents on future plastic attacks planned by the secret army were found in his hotel room, police alleged.

HOUSE ADJOURNED

MLA 'Tiny' Hobbs Dies in His Sleep

The B.C. legislature today mourned the sudden death of one of its most colorful members, George "Tiny" Hobbs, New Democratic Party-CCF MLA for Revelstoke.

Mr. Hobbs, 54, died in his sleep overnight, apparently from a heart attack.

The six-foot four-inch locomotive engineer was found in his bed at the Embassy Court Motel at 8:55 this morning by a friend from Revelstoke, Wallace Johnston, and Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Mr. Perrault called police.

SCHEDULED TODAY

The Liberal leader said he saw Mr. Hobbs late Tuesday night, working on the speech he was to deliver in the legislature today.

It would have been his first this session. But his last words in the House came Tuesday afternoon when Social Creditor Cyril Sheford of Omineca gave a strong plea for peace and understanding in today's muddled world.

Mr. Hobbs slapped his desk and in his well-known booming voice called across: "I heartily agree with everything you've said. There should be more speeches like this."

Another MLA called back: "You'll have your turn to speak tomorrow."

MOTION OF REGRET

But today when the legislature met at 2 p.m. it was almost immediately adjourned until 2 p.m. Thursday after a motion of regret from Premier Bennett.

Mr. Hobbs was scheduled to speak this afternoon; two other speakers were to go on the floor tonight.

But all business was called off.

AFRAID TO TWIST? TAKE OUT INSURANCE

LONDON (Reuters) — Lloyds agreed today to issue an insurance policy against "twistitis."

The company issued a $10,000 ($28,500) policy to cover medical fees, hospital and other expenses incurred by a person injured while doing the twist.

The policy is to be given away as a raffle prize at a charity ball next week.

Lloyds added a rider that the injuries must be incurred in a genuine twist and not in rock 'n' roll.

Sharp UN Rebuke Faces Portugal

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Portugal, humiliated last month by India's takeover of Portuguese Goa, was faced today with the sternest rebuke it has yet received in the United Nations.

The 104-member UN General Assembly endorsed 99 to 2 with one abstention Tuesday night, an Afro-Asian resolution demanding that Portugal end "repressive measures" in its West African territory of Angola where revolt flared last year.

The vote climaxed two weeks of debate in which country after country condemned Portugal's policies.

Portuguese Premier Antonio Salazar, threatened after the Goa incident to take his country out of the UN and his delegation here boycotted the debate on Angola, which Portugal claims as an integral province, not a colony.

REFORMS URGED

Only South Africa and Spain opposed the 45-country Afro-Asian resolution which urges Portugal to institute social, political and economic reforms aimed at independence for Angola, a territory of 5,000,000. Portugal and Iceland were absent and France abstained.

The UN took no action when India seized Goa and two other Portuguese colonies on the Indian subcontinent last month. India was one of the harshest critics of Portugal in the debate just concluded.

In other developments at the UN Tuesday, the West squelched an attempt by the Soviet Union for an immediate debate on the Congo situation in the 11-member Security Council. The members voted 7 to 2 with two abstentions for an indefinite adjournment. Only Romania joined Russia in the vote.

QUEBEC VETOS PENSION, POWER GRID

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — The Quebec government has turned down Prime Minister Diefenbaker's plans for a national power grid and for a contributory old age pension scheme, Premier Jean Lesage said Tuesday night.

Lesage said the basis for the rejection of the power grid was that Quebec considered natural resources an exclusive provincial matter.

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

JANUARY 31

Partners in Guild, David & Co. Wharf Street, today looked over minor damage in what easily could have been a fire destroying their premises. Last night an overheated stovepipe set fire to the shingled roofs, but neighbors with buckets of water quickly extinguished the blaze. (Damage, $10).

Police arrested two Indians suspected of yesterday's liquor robbery. At time of arrest, they were sleeping in a circle of empty champagne bottles.

WILD WEST UP NORTH

Dead Men Don't Like Apologies

The legislature's "cowboy"—Cyril Shelford—Tuesday related the story of what was almost a duel to his death, punctuated with some harsh words for trigger-happy hunters.

The Social Credit MLA for Omineca, as usual, had the House in stitches with his tales of the saddle.

He said he was riding his horse (he's a farmer in the wild Burns Lake country) this year, when somebody fired a shot at him.

"I know if I'd had a rifle I certainly would have shot back," he drawled.

"I got behind a nice big tree and hollered nice and loud."

Despite evasive action, he said his unknown assailant fired another two shots.

"It was a B.C. Electric shareholder," chipped in Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dewdney).

But Mr. Shelford was serious. He had a friend, he said, another horseman, who was shot at five times.

Luckily this attacker came out of the bush.

"He come and apologized," said Mr. Shelford. "But an apology if a fellow was dead wouldn't be doing much good."

'Bagged His Third Horse This Year'

He added: "I know the case of a fellow who bagged his third horse this year; he got a white one this time."

"There is far too much of this shooting without knowing what they are shooting at, and far too much leniency when they're caught. I would like to know whose business it is to lay charges."

"If we shot at someone in a bank and said, 'Sorry, I thought he was a bank robber,' we'd all find out quick enough who'd lay a charge."

Mr. Shelford called for an automatic charge of manslaughter in a case of a hunting death; life suspension of hunting licence in a wounding (plus other criminal charges); 10 years' suspension for shooting livestock or a near miss on a human.

Mr. Shelford said he didn't agree that some kind of testing would avert hunting accidents.

"Ninety-nine and a half per cent of all offenders would pass any test," he said. Some of them were expert marksmen.

As well as the criminal charges, Mr. Shelford called for more careful policing in the bush.

He said there should be more game wardens and more check points.

Four members of famed Wallendas circus family cling to high wire at Detroit Coliseum after accident killed two other members of troupe, Jana Schepp, 17, dropped to an improvised net while three men climbed back along wire to safety. CLOWN HERO

Two Killed As Tragedy Hits Circus

DETROIT (AP). — Two members of the famed Wallendas family troupe, known the world over, fell to their deaths Tuesday night from the high wire when a pyramid act came apart without a net.

Two others, including Jana Schepp, 17, were injured, one critically.

Others of the troupe, clinging to the wire about 40 feet in the air, caught Jana and saved her.

The Wallendas met with their tragedy in a performance for the Shrine Circus at the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum before 7,000 adults and children.

Jana's brother, Dieter, 23, who had known freedom with her for only a few months after they escaped together from East Germany, was killed.

The other to die was Richard Faughnan, 29, performing for the first time in public.

Schepp and Faughnan suffered fatal injuries in hurtling to the sawdust-covered concrete floor of the Coliseum. Both died in hospital.

Mario Wallenda, 22, who fell with Schepp and Faughnan, was described as in "very critical" condition today by a hospital spokesman. Mario suffered head and internal injuries.

Crowd Threatened to Panic

For a time panic threatened from the shocked crowd. Some men tried to run into the ring. Women wept. Others, including children, were frozen in their seats.

A circus clown, Ernie (Blinko) Burch, was credited with bringing calm. Burch, grotesque in his makeup, stood in the ring centre pleading for order and the people heeded him.

Seven of the Wallendas were at a climax of their act. Atop the group, in a chair, was Jana, a full 50 feet above the floor.

There was an apparent slip by one member. The pyramid began collapsing.

Why No Action by Gov't On Gas Prices?—Socred

A new plea for a legislative committee study of gasoline prices was issued Tuesday by Cyril Shelford, the Social Credit party's own front-bench critic from Omineca.

He chided Attorney-General Robert Bonner for not mentioning the issue in his speech earlier in the session.

Mr. Shelford asked for an inquiry into prices and the possibility of equalizing them across the province at last year's session.

"I was sorry the attorney-general did not say anything about gas equalization, as it is one of the more urgent issues we should discuss early in the session," said Mr. Shelford.

Mr. Shelford said he had been informed that the trade and mines departments were carrying out a study of the question last year.

HEARD NOTHING

"From here on I have not heard any results or reports as to who carried out the study and who could appear before this investigating committee, if any."

He said he had "lost contact" with the study, but the gas companies hadn't.

He said an oil executive told him that the investigator was "a pretty good fellow," and that made him suspicious.

He said he had been "pretty shocked" at some of the things he learned about gas prices, freight costs and exports.

They included the discovery that gas sold at Taylor Flats and made at Taylor Flats was more expensive than the same gas shipped to southern B.C.

HOW MUCH FROM B.C.

Gas was also sold in the U.S. to farmers at 17.94 cents a gallon; while it fetched 28.3 cents in B.C. Mr. Shelford wondered how much of the U.S. gas came from B.C. anyway.

"For these reasons and others I asked the attorney-general on June 21 to take the idea to cabinet that it go before a committee of this House where all questions can be answered out in the open."

"I had no reply to this suggestion, so I want to make it again today."

Vigorous Surgery For Police Budget

A $38,192 increase over last year was shown Tuesday in the city police department's preliminary budget.

Police commission is expected to swing an axe vigorously at the figure, equivalent to more than a one-third mill increase, before adopting a final budget.

Most of the proposed increase went for an ambulance and extra police cars. It also included $7,800 for salary increases resulting from promotions and service pay.

A $3,000 item for a police chiefs' convention to be held here was referred back to Chief John Blackstock for study to see if it could be substantially cut.

Mayor R. B. Wilson asked why the city issued 99 parking exemption stickers to 99 civilians and 26 to policemen last year.

"Well, the aldermen and Reeves from outside..." responded Chief Blackstock.

Monthly report for December showed police recovered more than double the value of property reported lost. Some $3,487 was reported lost, and $8,216 was recovered. Explanation lies in a carry-over from previous reports.

Sweeping Liberal Win Forecast by Pearson

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Liberal leader Lester Pearson told a cheering audience of top echelon Liberals here Tuesday that there was one issue on which the coming election should be fought: the record of the government.

"A record which stands out in our history for its weakness and mismanagement."

With a record such as the Tories have established in the past four and one-half years, he said it was not surprising that they were becoming "jittery in action" and "shrill in talk."

Civil Defence

Budget-Policy

Meeting Set

Victoria Civil Defence control board will set a budget and form 1962 policy at a meeting Feb. 5 in headquarters at 1840 Blanshard.

It will be the new board's first meeting under the reorganized Civil Defence area including all Vancouver Island communities south from Chemainus.

But there will be fewer local representatives than formerly. Only Victoria city and Esqui-

sentatives from the four Greater Victoria municipalities.

Adjacent unorganized areas may still participate in the unit.

Meeting time is 2 p.m.

It was not surprising that the present government saw power disappearing from it and the Tories were worried because they love pomp and popularity of power.

He forecast a sweeping Liberal victory at the polls whenever Prime Minister Diefenbaker calls an election.

IGNORES NEW PARTY

Mr. Pearson concentrated his fire on the Progressive Conservatives. Not once did he mention the New Democratic party or T. C. Douglas.

The Liberal party's policy planners, campaign workers, candidates and chief election workers (450 were registered), have been meeting for two days making final adjustments to their 1962 platform, exchanging views and tips on how best to get out the voters and how to win the next election.

Mr. Pearson told the dinner meeting that Canada can undertake a full role in collective defence and security in the face of the Communist threat without becoming a nuclear power.

He condemned the Conservative government for "the muddle of its defence policy" and for "its complete abdication of responsibility" on the nuclear aspects of defence.

The government, he said, was spending millions on weapons which were not effective without nuclear warheads and then refusing to decide whether to have nuclear warheads or not.

"The whole business is a gross betrayal of trust," he said.

Capital Inflow Resumes Brisk Pace

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

The trend to increasing American and Canadian investment in Canada continued during the first 11 months of 1961, according to latest figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The statistics show that the capital inflow to Canada — mostly from the U.S. — was almost halved during 1960 due to economic conditions and government design.

During November last year overseas countries sold $13 million of Canadian stocks and $2 million of bonds, while Americans bought $10 million of stocks and $4 million of bonds.

Most important effect of this heavy inflow of foreign capital will be on Canada's deficit from "invisible" or "non-merchandise" transactions already running, according to a recent Bank of Montreal estimate, at an annual rate of better than a billion dollars.

Interest and dividend payments are already the largest single deficit item with $669 million paid out in 1960 against receipts of $178 million.

Along with foreign capital, Canada's commodity imports also increased for the first 11 months last year.

All major geographical areas share in the total 5.2 per cent increase from 1960. Purchases from the United States rose 4.4 per cent to $3,557,700,000; from Britain, 6.8 per cent to $578,600,000.

However, preliminary estimates show that last year, for the first time since 1954, Canadian merchandise exports were ahead of imports. The margin in Canada's favor was not heavy, but it was an encouraging trend.

Still, when the net figures — merchandise surplus vs. non-merchandise deficit — are calculated for the whole year, they will show beyond doubt that Canadians are still living far beyond their means.

A report from Vancouver says that B.C. Packers Ltd., largest integrated fishing company on the West Coast, expects net income for the year ending March 31 will equal the company's average net income over the past 10 years.

This would suggest a net of around $768,000 or $1.34 a share — well above 1960's $375,800.

Sterling Trusts Corporation continues the unbroken string of Canadian trust firms reporting record years in 1961.

Sterling showed a 35 per cent increase in net profit to $251,140 from $185,641 in 1960. Total assets were up 7 per cent at $38,450,933 and gross income was $1,911,081 compared with $1,388,781 in 1960.

Annual visit of U.S. internal revenue department agents to Vancouver to assist U.S. citizens, and others, in filing U.S. income tax forms will be made this year from Feb. 12 to March 2.

According to the U.S. consulate in Vancouver, U.S. citizens employed abroad must file tax returns for 1961 even though their income earned outside the U.S. may be exempt from tax. Citizens of Canada and other countries who derive income from U.S. sources are also required to file returns.

Appointments may be arranged by telephoning the U.S. Consulate in Vancouver.

'PLAGUE ON SOCIETY'
Discount Houses Under Hot Bast

Discount houses — a new breed of retail outlet — are a plague on society, James Rhodes (MDP CCF, Delta) said in the legislature Tuesday.

He warned they must be stopped, now or they will spread throughout the province.

Mr. Rhodes called for Municipal Act amendments this session "to protect the consumer and restore sensible hours" to the retail industry.

He said a discount house opened recently in Surrey, employing 125 people, and disrupted the store's claim the staff would otherwise be on welfare.

Exports To Cuba Tripled

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian domestic exports to Cuba in the first nine months of last year totalled $21,492,000, almost triple the value of shipments in the corresponding period of 1960.

However, September exports slipped to $1,080,000 — about half of the lowest figure for any previous month last year.

Exports of domestic products during January-September last year, reported today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, compare with $7,502,000 in the first nine months of 1960 and with $11,262,000 in the corresponding 1959 period.

Full-year totals were $13,038,000 in 1960 and $15,222,000 in 1959. The record year in Cuban trade was 1952 with $24,351,000 in exports.

Here are figures for the first nine months of 1961 compared with 1960:

January	$2,156,000	$793,000
February	2,095,000	750,000
March	2,648,000	775,000
April	3,401,000	952,000
May	2,131,000	904,000
June	2,950,000	665,000
July	2,926,000	935,000
August	2,104,000	1,022,000
September	1,080,000	715,000

Fish Catch On Pacific Up Sharply

OTTAWA (CP) — Fishermen in the Atlantic provinces reported reduced catches and income last year, while West Coast fishermen nearly doubled their catches.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today that East Coast fishermen landed 1,225,807,000 pounds of fish valued at $58,804,000 in 1961. The catches were 8 per cent smaller than in 1960 and the value was $699,000 lower.

British Columbia fishermen landed 630,954,000 pounds, an 85 per cent leap from the 1960 total of 340,551,000. The value was $38,037,000 from $29,866,000.

In the over-all picture, Canadian landings increased 11 per cent to 1,856,671,000 pounds. The value climbed 8 per cent to $96,841,000.

'Gorging Behind Wheat Curtain'

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal, said today Canadians "no longer see what is beyond our wheat curtain."

Speaking to the Montreal District Chamber of Commerce, he said:

"We believe that all men eat as we do and that hunger in the world is a legend that is told by missionaries and world travellers."

"We are an over-fed people while, around us, 60 per cent of humanity has less than is necessary."

He said Canada could welcome hundreds of thousands of immigrants without affecting the standard of living. He said employers do not have the right to hire immigrants at a below-normal wage. By doing so, an employer "gives rise to the popular sentiment that immigrants take jobs away from those who have always lived there."

A 65 per cent drop in the lake trout catch was reported for Lake Superior in the first nine months of 1961.

He said Canada could welcome hundreds of thousands of immigrants without affecting the standard of living. He said employers do not have the right to hire immigrants at a below-normal wage. By doing so, an employer "gives rise to the popular sentiment that immigrants take jobs away from those who have always lived there."

A 65 per cent drop in the lake trout catch was reported for Lake Superior in the first nine months of 1961.

ROYAL YORK STRIKE 'MAY GO ON FOR YEARS'

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 400 striking employees of the Royal York Hotel voted Tuesday to continue their walkout and reject settlement proposals made by Labor Minister Warrender.

The labor minister accused union leaders later of violating an agreement not to speak out against his proposals and predicted the strike, already nine months old, "could go on for years."

University Called 'Perfect Home Industry' for Victoria

By IAIN HUNTER

Dr. Izzud Din Pal has come to what he believes to be the ideal "university town."

Having attended universities, either as student or lecturer, in Britain, the United States, eastern Canada, and his native Pakistan, Dr. Pal has answered the challenge of the establishment of a university in Victoria.

This is not the often publicized material expansion of the university "in terms of bricks and mortar." Most educationalists would agree with Dr. Pal that academic expansion is the vital element in the establishment of a university.

"If the college wants to become a really good university it must offer its students a large choice of courses. Versatility in the curriculum will also stimulate academic exchange and attract the best men in various fields," he said.

Dr. Pal is engaged at the college for two years in order to introduce courses in international trade and advanced economic theory. He regards the theory of international trade as his specialty, having taken his PhD and taught in this field at McGill University in Montreal.

He has studied also at the universities of the Punjab, London and Harvard. He only came to Victoria College because he was attracted by the "pioneering spirit" of its students, and staff. And Victoria instantly impressed him as the perfect location for a university on the model of the "university town" of Durham in England and East Lansing, Michigan, "which virtually lives off Michigan State."

"I regard a university as potentially a perfect home industry for Victoria," he said. By a university in Victoria, Dr. Pal means one entirely separate from UBC. Having grown up and taught in the "affiliated system," he has found that the parent body often over shadows its affiliated colleges.

"This has a psychological effect upon the smaller institution, and in California it has deteriorated into a political game," he said.

Dr. Pal said the establishment of several autonomous universities in the same province is quite in keeping with the diffusion of society which is a basic element of Western culture. He believes that the "babies must be allowed to grow."

Canadian universities are well regarded abroad, he said, a fact which most Canadians do not seem to realize. Canadian students have the "habit" of travelling abroad to do post-graduate work in spite of the fact that they can get just as good instruction in this country.

Victoria College, already well known for its high scholastic standard, will expand into the post-graduate field as well.

At first the college might have to accept the "spill over" from UBC, but being able to offer more individual attention, it will soon attract students on its own, Dr. Pal believes.

He feels that the college should aim at an enrollment of above 3,000 students. "Anything above a 9,000 enrollment becomes unmanageable," he said.

In stressing the position of the university in Victoria as a "home industry," Dr. Pal said that it should not withdraw from the city entirely.

To maintain its connection with the city, the university should be only partially residential," he believes.

The new campus is designed to house approximately one quarter of the student enrollment.

Dr. Pal is in Victoria with his Canadian wife and daughter until 1964 at least.

MONTE ROBERTS

For a couple of days, I have been following that well-known bit of B.C. Electric advice: "Take a bus, leave the driving to us."

This doesn't quite qualify me as an expert on metropolitan transit.

But it does lead me to the conclusion, running a bus system in Victoria must be about as profitable as manufacturing instant snowflakes in Baffinland.

As a 48-hour wonder in the field of mass transportation, I can see why former Mayor Percy Scurrell ran for the nearest fallout shelter every time it was suggested the city should take over the buses.

There is nothing, I hasten to add, much wrong with the vehicles involved (except for the exhaust fumes), and nothing—positively nothing—wrong with the drivers of same.

Skilled drivers, they are, and courteous diplomats, and patient with the likes of me, who has a tendency to stand in front of the centre doors and wonder why they don't open.

What is wrong is the fact that the buses don't seem to go where the people (such as me) wish to go.

And if, by some odd chance, the buses do go where the people want to go, they don't go there when the people want to go there.

For example, I waited for 18 minutes for a bus, and when it got there, I bribed my way aboard (don't you LOVE those welcome aboard signs on the top step—the one you trip over?) with a cash outlay of 13 cents, me and the bus embarked on a voyage comparable only to the Odyssey.

We turned left, we turned right, we made a loop, we waited at an intersection to keep on schedule, and we eventually arrived within about four blocks of where I wished to go.

During all this twisting, turning, slowing, stopping, and accelerating, I was accompanied by two other paying guests, making a total gross revenue for the bus company of 39 cents.

I will admit, there are times when the buses go where the people are willing to go, to such an extent that even King Oscar wouldn't have nerve enough to pack so many sardines into one vehicle.

This, however, happens so infrequently the 39-cent payload is more the rule than the exception.

You can see why my ambition in life is to not own the bus service in Victoria.

Yet I hate to be accused of a negative approach. The only positive solution which comes to mind, after my two-day survey, is this:

Pass legislation compelling the people to wish to go where the buses go, when the buses wish to go there.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

B.C. Electric revenue from its transit operations slipped drastically during the final quarter of 1961. City Hall learned today.

The drop sharply reduced the franchise fee collected from the company by the city. It is based on 3 per cent of gross revenue.

A cheque for $5,286 was received for the three months ending Dec. 31, compared with a payment of $6,185 for the corresponding quarter in 1961.

Founder's Day meeting of the Frank Hobbs P.T.A. will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the school and will feature a demonstration of the Cuisinart method of teaching arithmetic.

Reconstruction of Shelbourne Street between Cedar Hill Cross Road and Ruby Road, at a cost of $20,000, has been approved by Saanich public works committee.

The project is part of an over-all program to reconstruct Shelbourne through to Mount Douglas.

So far Saanich has enlarged and reconstructed Shelbourne from Dairy Road to Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Reeve Stanley Murphy said curbs and gutters will not be installed in the new project until more development takes place in the surrounding area.

Saanich public works committee Tuesday gave tentative approval to a list of sidewalks to be constructed this year in the municipality.

They include Cedar Hill Road from Cedar Hill Cross Road to Ruby Road; Ruby Road from Shelbourne to Gordon Road; Tillicum from Burnside to Trans-Canada; Cadboro Bay Road from Sinclair to Taylor.

Capital Region Planning Board today asked Greater Victoria municipalities to put up $24,500 for its proposed $32,362 budget this year, an increase of $7,000 over 1961.

Sharing formula for the area planning board would appropriate $9,000 from the provincial government.

Other grants would have to come from: Victoria, $10,961; Saanich, $7,700; Oak Bay, $2,981; Esquimalt, $2,085; Central Saanich, $497; and Sidney, $274.

Increase in the municipal share results from expenditure last year of a federal grant towards the Victoria urban renewal survey which will not be renewed.

A round-table discussion Tuesday, by representatives of the transit service, city police and city engineering department, resulted in a decision to obtain technical reports on how and whether the experiment can be launched.

"There is no urgency for speed so we want to be sure," Mayor Wilson said.

Victoria Aged Pensioners, Branch 3, will be admitted free to the Auto Show at Memorial Arena between 1 and 4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Cards must be shown.

Singer Joyce Hahn... with her family in mind.

'I NEVER GOT TO SCHOOL' Road Sign Learnin' Didn't Slow Joyce

By JOHN BASSETT

Today is mommy's birthday. But unfortunately for Beverly, 12, and Graham Collier, three months, mommy won't be home to make a party of it.

She'll be singing up a storm in the Victoria Memorial Arena for the 1962 Auto Show.

Mommy Collier, better known as songstress Joyce Hahn, is the diminutive lass who takes to the arena stage three times daily and with her dulcet tones turns even the most hardboiled salesmen from their appointed tasks.

BEST VIEW As she croons from a platform above the arena floor she has best view of the $200,000 worth of shining new cars. Over 50 models are being displayed by eight member firms of the Victoria Automobile Dealers' Association.

The doors are open from 1 p.m. to midnight with stage shows at 3.15, 7.15 and 10.15 p.m. The show continues until Saturday night.

"Victoria seems a wonderful place," she says. "My only regret is I can't spend my birthday with my husband (former CBC sound producer Orm Collier) and the children."

STARTED AT FIVE Joyce, 32 today, took back on a vagabond show business career which started when she was five years old. "I can still remember it," she says. "Dad lost his job in Saskatchewan so he decided to go to Detroit to look for one. We packed everything, including my sister and two brothers into a home-made trailer and headed for the states."

In order to garner some grocery money the family decided to stop in towns along the way and put on variety shows.

The family didn't make Detroit. Their show was such a success they made a permanent business of it.

"I never did get to school," said the four-foot-eleven-inch 100-pounder, "but I learned to read by watching all the road signs."

Joyce mused back on her years the family travelled with their show and trailer. "We'd do shows anywhere," she said. "I can remember once in Montana, when I was about seven, singing to the miners on top of the bar, and they would toss silver dollars into my outstretched skirt."

FINALLY TELEVISION Her career blossomed from saloons to fashionable salons and finally to television. For the past five years, until this season, she sang regularly on the Cross-Canada Hit Parade with Wally Koster, another veteran.

"I thought the show would fold sooner than it did," Joyce said. "The range of popular music today appeals to only a small percentage, the 13- to 17-year-olds, and you can't have a successful show with that small an audience."

Now, on her second birthday past the 30 mark, the petite singer is happy to be rid of a busy schedule.

"I only accept the odd TV spot, do rare club dates, and guest performances," she says. "As for her children, they are going to stay home, and have nothing to do with travelling trailers and suitcase living."

"I want them to get some good hard booklearnin'."

HEWITT ELECTED Elected with Capt. Hewitt were J. E. Brown, rector's warden, and C. G. Forryan, church treasurer.

On the church committee are Cyril Chapman, Dr. D. A. M. Patterson, J. C. Dack, C. C. Wynn, B. W. Benson, G. F. Sutton, R. W. Phipps, Jack Ozard, S. C. Hawkins and Mr. Forryan. Mr. Hawkins also was named vestry clerk.

Synod delegates will be Mrs. J. E. Brown, Major Kirkpatrick Crockett, Mr. Forryan, Capt. Hewitt, F. G. Mulliner, and Mr. Patterson. Rector and delegates will be Dr. W. W. Bell and Mr. Sutton.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1962—PAGE 13

TRAFFIC STUDY SUPPORTED

Mayor R. B. Wilson today threw his support behind a recommended Greater Victoria Traffic study.

The study, estimated to cost $76,000, would plot traffic patterns expected for the next 20 years and outline how to plan roads to cope with the constant increase in traffic.

Cost of the survey by outside consultants would be split 50-50 between the provincial government and the four municipalities, under a recommendation made by the Capital Region Planning Board.

Victoria's share probably would be in the neighborhood of $12,000.

MOST HELPFUL "I think such a study would be most helpful," Mayor Wilson said. "The volume of vehicles using our streets is growing constantly and a Greater Victoria study would be of great value in helping us agree on an overall plan for handling the extra traffic."

Mayor Wilson pointed out that road construction in each municipality inevitably has an effect in adjoining municipalities.

"We're all tied into it together so we should try to solve the problems together."

The study was proposed by a sub-committee of municipal engineers which examined the need and a traffic consultant's outline of the scope for a study.

Saanich public works committee Tuesday night recommended its council adopt the recommendation provided the provincial government pays more than half the cost.

While in Clallam Bay, two of the RCN's investigating officers called on a 70-year-old widow, and promised never to shell her home again.

"That's all I care... that they don't do it any more," said Mrs. Louise Gosson whose home was hit Monday by a fragment of a shell.

IN SCHOOLLAND The two officers, Lt. Cmdr. Douglas Sherlock and Lt. Cmdr. Hugh Plant, visited the town, 40 miles from Victoria, after shells fired during target practice exploded over the area. Fragments landed in a schoolyard, in streets, on a roof of Mrs. Gosson's home and near a lighthouse.

"I was under a tree in the garden," said Mrs. Gosson. "I didn't know what was happening—I thought they were shooting out on the street."

TOOK COVER Suddenly a fragment about six inches long, caromed off the roof on her house. The frightened widow took cover until the shelling ceased, then ventured outside for a look at her roof.

"It didn't do any damage; it took off three shingles, that's all," she said. "Was I upset?"

"I didn't sleep all night—I'm sick."

While disturbed, most of the town's residents regarded the incident as "just one of those things."

FELL NEAR BOY Greatest concern was over the fact that several shells burst over the grounds of the community's school where classes were to be dismissed. One piece of shell fell near a boy who was just returning home.

Navy Speeds Shelling Probe

Officers Apologize To Elderly Widow

Naval board of inquiry into the shelling of an Olympic Peninsula logging town has been advanced from Monday to Thursday morning, Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, announced today.

His announcement came following positive identification of shell fragments found at Clallam Bay, Wash., as of Canadian manufacture, and of the anti-aircraft type used by HMCS Skeena, a destroyer escort carrying out gunnery practice in Juan de Fuca Strait Monday.

Skeena and a sister ship, HMCS Saguenay, will return to port at 8.30 a.m. Thursday, instead of Friday afternoon, as previously scheduled, so personnel can appear before the inquiry board.

THREE FRAGMENTS Admiral Finch-Noyes said only three small fragments have been found so far, and were brought back to Esquimalt by an RCN investigating team. He said the fragments were identified at the Rock Point arsenal as three-inch, 50 calibre anti-aircraft ammunition used by Canadian destroyer escorts.

While in Clallam Bay, two of the RCN's investigating officers called on a 70-year-old widow, and promised never to shell her home again.

"That's all I care... that they don't do it any more," said Mrs. Louise Gosson whose home was hit Monday by a fragment of a shell.

Ferry Engine Subsidy Queried Again

Premier Bennett has sent a second telegram to Prime Minister Diefenbaker asking about subsidies for his new ferries.

But it appears Ottawa has decided to pay only towards ferry parts made in Canada.

Mr. Bennett sent his first telegram early in the year when the Maritime Commission told him it would not recommend a full 40 per cent subsidy unless the engines for new Island-mainland ferries were built in Canada.

A British firm was low bidder for the engines.

In Ottawa Tuesday Transport Minister Leon Balcer said the subsidy will be determined on the amount of Canadian content in the new ferries, to be used on the former Black Bay route from Nanaimo to Horseshoe Bay.

This presumably reiterates the Maritime Commission stance.

However, ferry manager Monty Aldous said today that there still is no decision on a contract for the engines.

$1,400 Theft In Saanich

Saanich detectives said Tuesday they are investigating the theft of $1,400 in cash and jewellery from a Rowland Street home.

The robbery apparently took place some-time Sunday night from the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Stancil, 3832 Rowland, while the owners were out.

A back door was forced to gain entry into the house, police said.

Pocketbook 'Touch' May Arouse Voters

The youngest woman member of Parliament believes that people should take more interest in politics.

"The Liberal Party plan to have the national treasury pay election campaign expenses may help to awaken them," says Judy LaMarsh, 37, only woman member of the Opposition.

"Everyone is interested in finances and in what is done with their money. This could lead them into the broader field of being interested in questions that affect the life of Canada."

The Niagara MP believes that an election "could be very close at hand."

"It will be very quick, or else not at all," she says.

"The Diefenbaker government has lost so much ground it cannot recover; Lester Pearson is confident—and the time is ripe to return to good government."

Since her election in 1960, Miss LaMarsh has established a reputation for speaking up in the House—for being something of a "prickly" in the side of the Prime Minister.

She believes this may be because the House of Commons gives "a certain amount of leeway" to female members.

DONT GANG-UP They don't understand us and so they don't gang up on us with both feet. They make the mistake of seeing women in the mass, not as people."

"We are individuals," she said forcefully, "and should be assessed as such."

More women are needed in government, Miss LaMarsh says, "but not because they wear skirts. Rather because they have ability, charm, and are able to do something for our country. These are the women who will be a credit to us and to Canada."

Miss LaMarsh thinks it "presumptuous to say married women are taking jobs away from men. And, as far as married women with children working, it is a matter between those women and their husbands."

"In my experience as a lawyer there is no more delinquency in such homes than there is in homes where the mothers drink and play bridge to excess."

"Just as many criminal types come from the so-called good homes where mothers stay at home as from the homes of working mothers."

CABINET POST? If the Liberals win the next federal election, there is a good possibility that Miss LaMarsh would be named a cabinet minister. It could be in labor, immigration or Indian affairs.

She has taken a prominent part in debates on problems of these departments.

Is she interested? Of course! Miss LaMarsh spoke to Liberal women's groups Tuesday afternoon and at a meeting of Saanich Liberals at Langford in the evening.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What are the ingredients in tooth powder? P.S.

A. Tooth powders usually contain a mild abrasive such as finely powdered chalk, a detergent or soaplike material, a sweetening agent other than sugar and various flavoring oils. A gum "binder" and glycerine are added to these basic materials in toothpaste.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Strom Thurmond (Dem.-S.C.) moved today to force the defence department to name the censors who struck specific anti-Communist statements from texts of speeches by military officers.

Angry Commuters Take Over Ferry

VENICE (Reuters)—Mutinous commuters in this city of islands seized a municipal ferryboat here today and, as police rushed on to the wharf to recapture it, cut the mooring ropes and sailed out into Venice Lagoon.

The trouble began because the commuters' normal boat was being repaired and they were asked to go aboard a smaller boat. They refused and commandeered a bigger ferry instead.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tensions between the United States and Russia seem to be easing off a bit. Even the Berlin crisis may be in for a prolonged lull.

Britain Bypassed In Moves

LONDON (Reuters)—British officials today were watching closely what appeared to be a thaw in Soviet-American relations.

The British government seemed to have been bypassed in the development, but so far there has been no disposition here to react unfavorably to bilateral moves between the U.S. and Russia to improve their relations.

The official British view is to welcome any steps in the direction of reversing the 1961 trend of heightened tension over Berlin.

Officials here said they were not informed by the Americans about Monday's talks in Paris between Pierre Salinger and Mikhail Kharlamov of the Soviet foreign office.

In some quarters here it is believed Russia made a policy change before agreeing to the Salinger-Kharlamov talks and inviting Salinger to Moscow—and also deciding to give prominence to the 80th anniversary of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt's birth with a Moscow reception.

U.S. Slackens Off Europe Army Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Army announced today a cutback of overseas duty for thousands of men whose tours abroad were extended by as much as six months because of the Berlin crisis.

It is the first major cancellation of emergency steps taken last fall to build up U.S. armed strength swiftly. Army officials said they were unable immediately to estimate how many men are affected.

TERRORISTS STRIKE AGAIN IN KOOTENAYS

TRAIL (CP)—Bomb terrorists struck twice in the West Kootenays early today.

RCMP reported that an empty box car at a pulp mill near Castlegar, 20 miles north of here, was blown up, along with a section of railway track in the same area.

Police said they believe the bombings are in protest against the sittings of a special assize court in Nelson.

So far 19 of the Freedomites have been sentenced to terms up to 12 years in prison.

Algeria Pact Said Near

PARIS (AP)—France's capital buzzed today with reports that President de Gaulle's government and the Algerian rebels are near agreement—or have reached one—on a ceasefire and independence in the war-torn North African territory.

The Geneva correspondent of the Belgian radio, quoting an authoritative North African source, said complete agreement on an Algerian settlement had been reached at a secret meeting in Vevey, Switzerland.

Paris newspapers carried prominent stories Tuesday night that an agreement was near, and various sources in Paris had the impression crucial developments on Algeria would come this week.

There was no official confirmation of the various peace agreement reports, and none was expected from French officials before Monday night. If agreement has been reached, President de Gaulle presumably will announce it in a radio-TV speech scheduled then.

A spokesman at de Gaulle's Elysee Palace discounted the Belgian radio report, saying that with de Gaulle's speech approaching, such reports could be expected with increasing frequency. He advised a reporter not to pay too much attention to them.

Several developments gave substance to the reports of an impending climax in the Algerian drama, however.

The French Army rolled strong detachments of troops and armored cars into the centre of Algiers Tuesday night "for any eventuality," army sources said. The troop reinforcements were withdrawn this morning, but the show of strength obviously was aimed at the extremist Secret Army Organization waging a campaign of terrorism to keep Algeria French.

Announcement of an accord with the rebel National Liberation Front is certain to infuriate Algeria's European population, and a general uprising is a possibility.

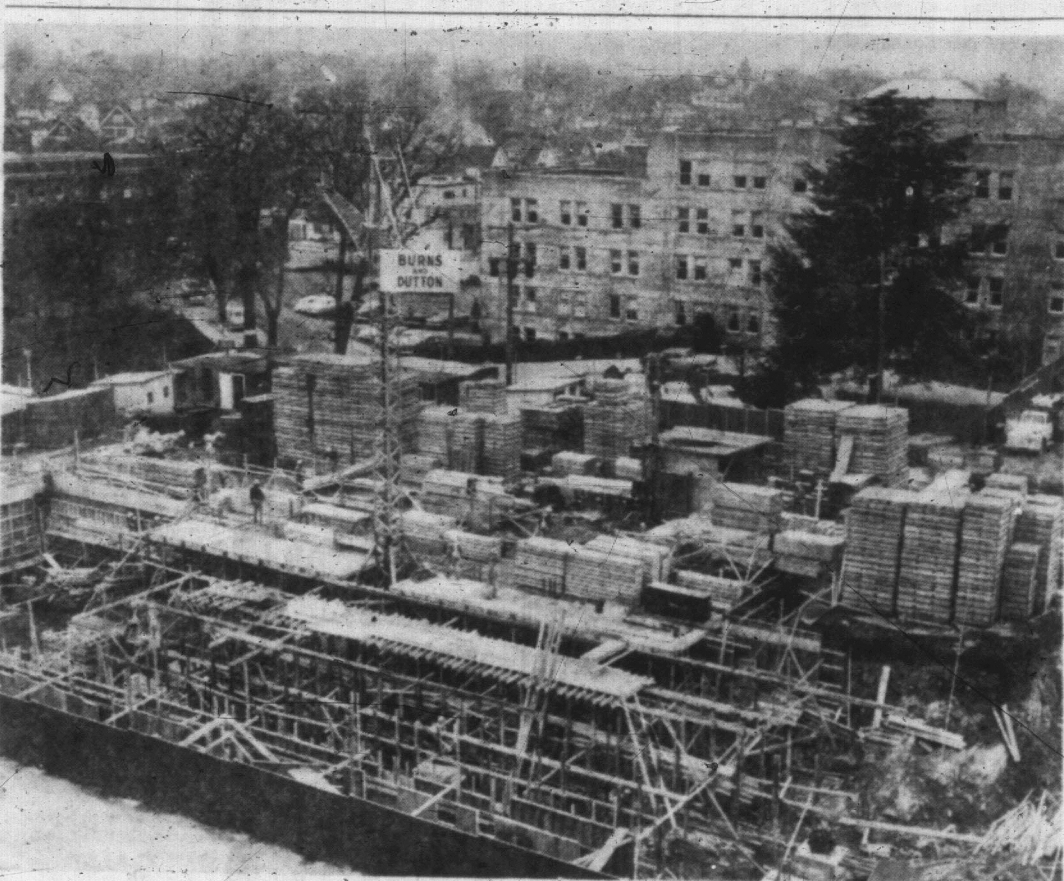

To guard against any attempt at a putsch in Paris itself, the government placed 30 squadrons of mobile gendarmes, totalling more than 4,000 men, in a police "strategic reserve" in the Paris region.

Sharp UN Rebuke Faces Portugal

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Portugal humiliated last month by India's takeover of Portuguese Goa, was faced today with the sternest rebuke it has yet received in the United Nations.

The 104-member UN General Assembly endorsed 99 to 2 with one abstention Tuesday night, an Afro-Asian resolution demanding that Portugal end "repressive measures" in its West African territory of Angola, where revolt flared last year.

The vote climaxed two weeks of debate in which country after country condemned Portugal's policies.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Sales

VANCOUVER—Closing sales: Western Mines 1,200 at $1.52, Charter 1,500 at $1.39, Huestis 2,000 at 25¢, Peace River 4,000 at 21¢, Prudential 500 at 25¢, Peel 1,500 at 78¢, Indian Mines 3,500 at 29¢, Cowichan Copper 1,000 at 69¢, Fargo 200 at $3.75, Royalite 200 at $14, Skeena 1,000 at 12½¢.

Portuguese Premier Antonio Salazar threatened after the Goa incident to take his country out of the UN and his delegation here boycotted the debate on Angola, which Portugal claims as an integral province, not a colony.

REFORMS URGED

Only South Africa and Spain opposed the 45-country Afro-Asian resolution which urges Portugal to institute social, political and economic reforms aimed at independence for Angola, a territory of 5,000,000. Portugal and Iceland were absent and France abstained.

The UN took no action when India seized Goa and two other Portuguese colonies on the Indian subcontinent last month. India was one of the harshest critics of Portugal in the debate just concluded.

In other developments at the UN Tuesday, the West squelched an attempt by the Soviet Union for an immediate debate on the Congo situation in the 11-member Security Council. The members voted 7 to 2 with two abstentions for an indefinite adjournment. Only Romania joined Russia in the vote.

FOUNTAINS FREEZE IN ROME

LONDON (AP)—A new winter cold snap reached freezing fingers across Europe from Norway's north cape to southern Italy today.

Snow fell on the usually sunny city of Bari on the heel of the Italian boot. In Rome the famous fountains froze—a rare event.

DIES

Former president of B.C. Social Credit League, Noel Murphy, 58, died in a Vancouver hospital today after a long illness. He had been in and out of hospital for many months for treatment of cancer.

Press Blasts U.S. Over Cuba Policy

TORONTO (UPI)—The United States came under fire from all three Toronto daily newspapers today for its role in ousting Cuba from the Organization of American States. (See story, Page 2.)

The Globe and Mail, Star and Telegram said in their editorials that the ouster, which the Telegram called an "empty victory" will do more harm than good to hemispheric solidarity.

The editorials said most of the support for the U.S. came from the "banana republics" some of whom, the editorials said, are governed by regimes more repressive than Cuba's. They also said that the opposition to the U.S. came from major democracies such as Brazil and Argentina.

The Globe said that the Caribbean countries "of course are the most susceptible to pressure from Washington and there is no doubt this pressure was used."

It said the "stick and carrot" device used by the U.S. to attain its objective discredited the alliance for progress plan before it even began.

The Globe added that the "fiasco at Punta del Este" was another good reason for this country to stay out of the OAS. "The OAS has come dangerously close to being used as an instrument to outlaw and crush an independent state," it said.

'Tiny' Hobbs Mourned

The B.C. Legislature today mourned the sudden death of one of its most colorful members, George "Tiny" Hobbs, New Democratic Party-CCF MLA for Revelstoke.

Mr. Hobbs, 54, died in his sleep overnight, apparently from a heart attack.

The six-foot four-inch locomotive engineer was found in his bed at the Embassy Court Motel at 8.55 this morning by a friend from Revelstoke, Wallace Johnston, and Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Mr. Perrault called police.

SCHEDULED TODAY

The Liberal leader said he saw Mr. Hobbs late Tuesday night, working on the speech he was to deliver in the legislature today.

It would have been his first session.

But his last words in the House came Tuesday afternoon when Social Creditor Cyril Shefford of Omineca gave a strong plea for peace and understanding in today's muddled world.

Mr. Hobbs slapped his desk and in his well-known booming voice called across: "I heartily agree with everything you've said. There should be more speeches like this."

Another MLA called back: "You'll have your turn to speak tomorrow."

MOTION OF REGRET

But today when the legislature met at 2 p.m. it was almost immediately adjourned until 2 p.m. Thursday after a motion of regret from Premier Bennett.

Mr. Hobbs was scheduled to speak this afternoon; two other speakers were to go on the floor tonight.

But all business was called off.

Bomb Boss Captured

PARIS (Reuters)—Police today announced the arrest here of a man they described as the leader of Secret Army Organization units responsible for plastic bomb attacks in France.

Police identified the man as Philippe Castille and said he was implicated in a bazooka attempt to kill Gen. Raoul Salan, now head of the secret army, when Salan was French commander in Algeria in 1956.

They said documents seized indicated Castille was the organizer of a series of 17-plastic explosions in Paris on the night of Jan. 17.

Canada Continues Trade With Cuba

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Dielenbaker said today Canada's policy of continued trade and diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's regime was unchanged by a decision of the hemispheric foreign ministers to exclude Cuba from inter-American activities.

Dielenbaker told the Commons that representatives of all three parties in parliament were agreed that there was no need for a change in policy with Cuba as the goods Canada sold to it were non-strategic.
